QUADRUPLE TRAGEDY DISCOVERED SUNDAY

George Robinson Kills His Family and Then Commits Suicide

MOTHER AND CHILDREN FOUND DEAD IN HOUSE

Condition of Rooms Show That Violent Struggle Preceded the Tragedy

DOMESTIC RELATIONS WERE NOT THE BEST

Calgary, July 29.—A tragedy, unequalled in the criminal annals of Alberta was discovered here shortly before noon Sunday, when George Robinson, a prosperous farmer of the Rumsey district, was found lying on the floor of the sitting-room of his home. His clothing was saturated with blood and the top of his head was blown completely off.

Across his body on the floor was the Winchester shotgun with which the shooting was apparently done, and opposite him on the floor, was the body of his wife, showing an severe wound, and her face bruised and beaten almost beyond recognition.

In the kitchen of the home the twelve-year-old son of the couple was found, his neck almost torn in two where he had been struck by a charge from the gun, while on the bed in the rear bedroom was the body of their three-year-old daughter, her head blown completely off.

Three empty shells were found on the floor of the house and a fourth in the sun, while furniture was overturned, blood spattered in all directions and evidence of a fierce fight found in every room.

It is a clear case of murder and suicide, and from the position of the bodies and the condition of the house the mother had evidently fought hard to save her children and after being beaten, probably into insensibility, was shot to death by her husband, who then followed his little children into the kitchen and bedroom, where they had attempted to hide, and after killing them, returned to the sitting-room and deliberately taken his own life.

When found the bodies of the three victims and the murderer was decomposed, and although the tragedy was not discovered until shortly before noon, it is thought to have occurred late on Wednesday night or early on Thursday morning.

Unhappy domestic relations are believed to be the cause of the quadruple tragedy, as it had been common talk in the neighborhood that Mr. and Mrs. Robinson did not get on well together. However, no recent quarrels had been noticed by the friends and neighbors, who are at a loss to account for the violent action of Robinson. He was usually considered to be quiet and to keep himself well under control.

HARRIMAN'S DAUGHTER LOSES SOME JEWELRY

Rope of Pearls Valued at $60,000 Stolen From Mrs. C. C. Rumsey.

New York, July 29.—Gems valued at $75,000, including a rope of pearls worth $60,000 were stolen from the home of C. C. Rumsey at Narragansett Pier within the twenty-four hours ending Sunday night. Mrs. Rumsey was a daughter of the late E. H. Harriman. The theft was made known to-day.

The rope of pearls was given to Mrs. Rumsey by her mother, and had a sentimental value far in excess of its intrinsic worth. Other jewels stolen, according to a statement just issued, included the following: Ruby and pearl pendant, gold pin set with magnificent ruby, sapphire, diamond brooch and gold mesh bag.

Mrs. Rumsey's home was entered some time between 8 o'clock Saturday night, and the same hour Sunday. Only the contents of one room, that was usually occupied by Mrs. Rumsey were disturbed, according to the announcement. Details were lacking at the office of the Harriman estate.

DAMAGED BUILDING, IS FINED BY MAGISTRATE

Vancouver, July 29.—Magistrate Shaw this morning found L. D. Taylor, of the World newspaper, guilty of the police court charge laid by the World Building, Ltd., of doing willful damage to the property of the company. The magistrate imposed a fine of $25 and costs, or in default one month's imprisonment.

The evidence in the case was taken several days ago. It was charged by the World Building, Ltd., that the accused had willfully damaged the property of the company in removing cement from columns in the World building for the purpose, it was said, by the defence, of inspecting the steel-work beneath.

WIDE-SPREAD REGRET AT DR. WATT'S DEATH

From every quarter of the community come expressions of regret over the untimely death of Dr. A. T. Watt. His many admirable qualities had won for the late physician a host of friends whom the tidings of yesterday have plunged into sorrow. A striking tribute to his worth appears in to-day's issue of the morning paper, which is here reproduced:

Colonist, Tuesday, July 29, 1913.

The death of Alfred Tennyson Watt, M.D., was a great shock to his hundreds of friends, and is deeply regretted by the entire community. Dr. Watt was a gentleman of many admirable qualities. To know him was to hold him in the highest esteem. He was gentle yet courageous, courteous yet firm, honorable in all his dealings, faithful to the government, to which he rendered valuable service for more than sixteen years, a true friend and a loving husband and father. To have known him was a privilege; to have enjoyed his friendship was an honor. Few men were so sensitive as he in respect to matters touching his integrity. He was not one of those upon whom the shafts of envy and malice made no impression. Conscious of his own honesty of purpose, he hesitated about laying bare to others the things which his honor felt. His proud spirit would not permit him to seek for sympathy when he was wronged, and there is no doubt whatever that his death was due to a sense of injustice which rankled in his breast, weakening his nervous strength. That he was a conscientious victim of his own act is hardly supposable, in view of all the attendant circumstances. We extend to Mrs. Watt and the children an expression of deepest sympathy in their bereavement.

As a public officer, the late Dr. Watt filled a difficult and responsible position with great ability and success.

The post of superintendent of quarantine is such an important station as will be Head of one that calls for firmness, good judgment and tact. The occasions when he was required to exercise the first-named quality were more numerous than the public knew. It required no small degree of courage to exercise the wide discretion vested in him in a manner best calculated to safeguard the public health. He stood as a sentinel of the public health absolutely alone. The protestations of great transportation companies, the ill-concealed indignation of detained passengers, were nothing to him in so far as they might affect his discharge of duty. Nothing could swerve him from the course which he considered right. The gentle, soft-spoken physician was as adamant when it came to the need of action. The result of this was that the western frontier of Canada was faithfully guarded from the invasion of pestilence from overseas for sixteen years. And we know we may add that not a transportation company whose ships Dr. Watt had to detain, not a passenger who was his enforced guest, ever has had a word to say of him and of the manner in which he performed his tasks that has not been of sincere and hearty appreciation.

We wish that our duty to the dead and the living would permit us to close this reference to one whose name is associated with these words; but there is more to be said, and it is not pleasant to say. There is no room at all for doubt that Dr. Watt died a victim to political persecution. That is a hard thing to say, but that the shattered condition of his nerves, which was the direct cause of his death, was due to the persecution to which he has of late been subjected is beyond question. Far be it from us to suggest that those responsible for the recent investigation anticipated any such tragic consequences; but the fact remains that a valuable officer has been lost to the public service, a valuable life has been lost to the community as the result of an investigation into baseless charges involving the integrity of one in whom a high sense of honor was combined with an unusual degree of sensitiveness. We do not care to enlarge upon this painful subject, but we wish to say as emphatically as we know how that, as the Colonist did not countenance that investigation, so we shall always oppose political persecution in whatever manner or form it may arise. Dr. Watt's qualities were not the Colonist's politics, and perhaps this fact renders it especially fitting that we should say what has just been said.

One other point may be mentioned. It is understood that since the change of administration at Ottawa Dr. Watt has been somewhat hampered in the discharge of his duty by a lack of sympathetic co-operation on the part of some of those employed in connection with the Quarantine Station, men who, appointees of the same government as that which appointed Dr. Watt, were anxious to curry favor with the new administration. We know that he felt himself distressed by a latent feeling of hostility towards him in certain quarters. But his hands were tied, for he had no power of dismissal. Such a condition of things never should have existed, and should not be allowed to continue. The superintendent of quarantine should have the right to suspend or dismiss any and every person employed at the station, and appeal from his action should be only to the department, and not to a patronage committee should have a voice in it. Furthermore, we say that while it may be open to anyone to make recommendations to vacancies, the power of appointment should be vested in the superintendent, subject to confirmation by the department. Here we have had a case where a capable and efficient public servant, the first quarantine officer on this coast of Canada to order a steamship

AMBASSADOR WILSON TO SPEAK TO-MORROW

Will Tell Senate Committee His Views of Mexican Conditions

REPRESENTATIVE SEEKS CONGRESSIONAL INQUIRY

Five Members From Each House Would Hold an Examination of Affairs

NO ANNOUNCEMENT FROM WILSON TO-DAY

Washington, D. C., July 29.—Ambassador Wilson resumed his conference to-day with Secretary Bryan on the Mexican situation. Mr. Wilson had expected to leave Washington to-day, but remained at the request of the secretary to continue his extended report of conditions in the southern republic. Ambassador Wilson, it was learned, will appear before the senate foreign relations committee to-morrow to give his view of conditions in Mexico. Secretary Bryan was prevented from attending the committee's special meeting to-day on account of the conferences at the state department with the ambassador.

Investigation of conditions in Mexico by a joint congressional committee was proposed in a resolution to-day by Rep. Stephens of Texas. Five senators and five representatives would examine all diplomatic correspondence and other documents relating to the situation.

President Wilson had no announcement to make to-day about the policy of the United States toward Mexico, but there is every reason to believe no steps will be taken by this country pending the outcome of the plans being laid by leading Mexicans to bring about peace.

The fact that some of the mediators interested in adjusting the differences between the followers of Huerta and Carranza were instrumental in persuading Porfirio Diaz to abdicate is encouraging officials in touch with Mexican affairs to believe that their efforts might bring about the resignation of President Huerta.

The argument of the Mexicans are said to be planning to place before Huerta is that the United States under no circumstances would recognize his regime and to extricate Mexico from its financial straits it is necessary to establish a new administration.

Charles Bissel and Bernard McDonald, the two mine managers held by Mexican federalists under sentence of death at Chihuahua, have been ordered released by the Huerta government. Charge Algeria of the embassy here so informed Secretary Bryan to-day.

ARSENIC OF LEAD IN MILK DEATHS RESULT

Three Babies Succumb and Cow That Grazed in Orchard Expires.

Wenatchee, Wash., July 29.—Three babies all fed with cow's milk from the same cow have died in the last few days. The symptoms were much like those of diphtheria and treatment for that disease was given, but without beneficial effect. Then arsenic of lead was discovered in the milk and the cow herself died.

It is now believed that the animal obtained the poison by grazing on grass in orchards sprayed with arsenic solution. All orchards of the valley were sprayed with this solution about ten days ago to kill moths.

The three-year-old son of Raymond S. Duncan, the three-year-old daughters of A. J. Templeton and Rufus Woods were all poisoned and died, and the 14-month-old daughter of Woods and a year-old baby boy are seriously ill.

into quarantine notwithstanding the protests of her commander, a man before whom, under normal conditions, they would have been many years of usefulness, driven to his death by the greed of patronage. We are glad to know that neither Sir Richard McBride, nor Mr. Barnard, nor Mr. Shepherd have ever countenanced this craving for office, which has done so much harm in the past. We know they will join with us in saying that it is time this persistent evil in our public life was forever abated. Let it be hereafter known that, so long as a man is discharging his duties faithfully, his position in office should be secured, no matter what his politics may be.

We venture to add the suggestion that, in view of Dr. Watt's long and valuable services to the public, the Dominion government might very properly make to Mrs. Watt and her sons some substantial recognition of his worth.

COURAGE NEEDED IN PROBLEMS ON LAND

Lord Lansdowne Says Lloyd-George Had Been Conducting Partizan Inquiry

SUMPTUOUSLY BURIED IN DISPATCH BOXES

An Open Mind for the Laborer and Open Mouth for Landlord

FOUR CONDITIONS TO SAFEGUARD THE STATE

London, July 29.—Speaking at a dinner given in the Hotel Cecil by the Unionist Club to John Boraston, the chief agent of the Unionist party, Lord Lansdowne said that it was common ground to both parties that there was a land question and that its problems had to be dealt with with a certain amount of courage.

Referring to the partizan treatment which the question had received at the hands of Mr. Lloyd-George, Lord Lansdowne said that to begin with, during the twelve months or more there had been proceeding a secret land inquiry, a partizan inquiry, an inquiry which had been declared to be unofficial but which admittedly was initiated by one of his Majesty's ministers. The result of the inquiry was still shrouded in mystery.

It was still buried in sumptuous dispatch boxes, and so long as it remained there it was safe from criticism and misrepresentation. They themselves had ventured to bring forward proposals with regard to the manner in which the land question should be dealt with. His for one welcomed criticism of these proposals if it was honest and straightforward. Mr. Lloyd-George had summarized the Unionist proposals in an epigram: "An

BISLEY PRIZE MONEY WON BY CANADIANS

Hawkins, King's Prize Man, Says He is an All-Round Empire Man

Bisley Camp, Eng., July 29.—Newspapers here have in some cases let themselves go with a vengeance over Private Hawkins' victory. One scribe describes him as "over six feet high," but Major Simmonds, adjutant of the Ont., 25th, says the reporter was evidently allowing for how big Hawkins should feel after winning the King's prize. The incident most extensively quoted is Hawkins' answer to the question as to his nationality, when he answered: "Well, I was born in Canada, but believe my parents are of Scotch descent, and as I shot for the Irish team, I reckon I am an all-round Empire man."

Among the Canadian money winners in the undivided prize list Private Hawkins won £253.5.0. Stated in terms of shillings the following are the winnings of the other Canadians in the undivided list: Sergt. Bullock, Toronto, 67; Sergt. Carr, Victoria, 127; Capt. Crowe, Guelph, 46; Pte. Deahorn, Winnipeg, 189; Staff Sergt. Freeborn, Hamilton, 229; Staff Sergt. Hawley, Winnipeg, 58; Sergt. Lee, London, Ont., 256; Private MacPherson, Stollarton, N. S., 20; Sergt. Parker, Halifax, 20; Lieut. Richardson, Victoria, 60; Lieut. Steek, Truro, N. S., 50; Sergt. Steele, Guelph, 28; Lieut. Sterns, Souris, P. E. I., 40; a total of £237.

Following are the Canadian winners in the divided prize list stated in shillings: Sergt. Brown, Edmonton, 40; Sergt. Bullock, Toronto, 140; Sergt. Carr, Victoria, 380; Capt. Crowe, Guelph, 200; Private Denholm, Winnipeg, 480; Staff Sergt. Freeborn, Hamilton, 500; Sergt. Guthaus, Ottawa, 280; Private Hawkins, Toronto, 180; Staff Sergt. Hawley, Winnipeg, 120; Sergt. Lee, London, 300; Sergt. Haman, Halifax, 120; Private Parker, Halifax, 80; Col. Sergt. Perry, Vancouver, 20; Lieut. Richardson, Victoria, 90; Lieut. Steek, Truro, 140; Sergt. Steele, Guelph, 360; Lieut. Sterns, Souris, P. E. I., 60; Sergt. Taylor, Dundas, 240; a total of 189 pounds odd.

These do not include the unattached Canadians shooting.

LORD LANSDOWNE

open mind for the laborer and an open mouth for the landlord."

As regarded this criticism, Lord Lansdowne continued, it was not true that their proposals meant that any burdens, properly attributable to the landlord and his estate, should fall on others. Mr. Lloyd-George had made the very common mistake of thinking that there were no cottages in the country except those which belonged to the landlord or his dependents.

As to the putting up of the value of the landlord's property, Mr. Lloyd-George had forgotten that the price which he might receive would have to pass muster, first with the county council and then with the government department, which would be responsible for these matters. Mr. Lloyd-George had perhaps never read the report of a joint committee of both houses of parliament, appointed by the present cabinet, a committee which

PORTUGAL IS FACING REVOLUTIONARY WAR

Vast Movement at Lisbon and Oporto Threatens to Break Out at Any Time.

Paris, July 29.—Dispatches from Portugal received by way of the Spanish frontier to-day indicate that great revolutionary activity prevails in Portugal. It is reported that a vast movement, planned in Lisbon and Oporto, may break out at any time. From the same source it is learned that serious street fighting occurred last night in various places. The censor in Lisbon refused to allow the cabling of an Associated Press dispatch stating that a band of revolutionaries had attempted to rush the barracks of the Sixteenth Infantry Regiment in order to rescue political prisoners detained there. The civilians were repulsed by the troops after an exchange of shots with the guard.

POSTAL CLERK'S STAMP ON NITRO-GLYCERINE

Package Mailed in New York Passed Through Heavy Usage Without Exploding.

San Francisco, July 29.—With his cancelling stamp poised above a neat little package to-day ready to descend with a bang, Postal Clerk George Quockman's jaw dropped; the stamp dropped to the floor from his hand and he nearly followed in its collapse.

In the upper left hand corner of the package was the word "Nitro-glycerine." The package had been mailed in New York and judging by the postmarks, every mail clerk between the two cities who had had a chance had banded his stamp on it without such chance.

BEEES TAKE POSSESSION FARMER GETS BARGAIN

Spokane, July 29.—Deprived of the use of their clothing by a swarm of bees, six young women, all employed by the Graham Company, were forced to take a long swim in Newman lake while the dusky bees deliberately hived in the cookhouse in their tent.

While the girls were skydiving a hive of bees decided that a lazy July day was a good time to swarm and they began to cluster in the tent. The girls were afterwards rescued by a farmer, who gave $5 for the stove, and considered his purchase a bargain.

AUSTRALIA FIRM FOR ASIATIC EXCLUSION

Rt. Hon. Andrew Fisher Believes in California Anti-Alien Land Laws

EX-PRIME MINISTER EXPRESSES HIS VIEWS

Would Fight Japan to Help United States but Not With Nipponese

ARE NOT DESIRABLE IN WHITE MAN'S LAND

Melbourne, Australia, July 29.—The Right Hon. Andrew Fisher, until within a few weeks Premier of the Commonwealth of Australia, has declared himself for Japanese exclusion and endorsed the action taken by California, Arizona and other American States with regard to the alien ownership of land.

"I am no longer Prime Minister," said Mr. Fisher, "and my views can have no effect but a personal backing. Still, I have no hesitation in saying that while at the head of the ministry I entertained them quite as strongly as I do now, and was prepared to render aid to any movement or assistance in the passing of any bill that might tend to the exclusion from our territory of undesirable aliens."

"I cannot say that I have viewed the Japanese with particular marked disfavor in this regard, though reports made to me from many sources in the Commonwealth have caused me to believe that certain other Asiatics are less objectionable. I would not want to offend the Japanese nation, yet, in spite of the fact that an alliance—so termed—exists between the Mother Country and Japan, neither am I willing to insult the patriotism and intelligence of Australians by even intimating that the Nipponese are welcome as a whole to our shores."

"Billions of the best and most loyal people of the empire will rejoice when the time limit set for the life of this understanding (the alliance) will have been reached. It was entered into, admittedly, at least on England's part, for its working out must have made England take sides with Japan as against some of the white nations, Russia, Germany, France or Portugal, over Eastern affairs."

"This would have been intolerable to all Englishmen—and by this term I include, of course, all Scotchmen, Irishmen and Welshmen who at home or in the colonies form the backbone of the empire."

"It is inconceivable to think that by this unwise and far from creditable 'understanding' the British Empire, to defend Japan and Japanese interests, might be brought into conflict with the United States. Inconceivable, I say; yet that word is not strong enough, for British agents everywhere would revolt against spilling American blood because of any Japanese alliance."

"If we had good and sufficient reasons to fight our American cousins and friends (which we pray the Lord we never may have) then there would be the most loyal response throughout every part of Britain's dominions; but it is absurd to believe that British soldiers and sailors would train their guns upon Americans for a reason supplied by Japan."

"While Japan may still insist—as I understand she does—that the offensive and defensive alliance is still in force, I want to say that I believe so far as the British people are concerned there is no understanding of such a nature in force to-day and never will be. The British Empire is amply able to take care of itself without Japan's aid in any quarter of the globe, and it is to be hoped that Japan can look after her own interests without relying in one small tota upon British help."

"In matters more nearly industrial and less internationally political, I may speak with the freedom of every citizen of the country, and in so doing may say that I do not regard the Japanese as a desirable people to have in large numbers in a 'white man's country.'"

"It would be impossible, for instance, to amalgamate them with the English, Irish, Scotch and Welsh of our own states and were they here in any large numbers they would form even without the franchise—which they never will obtain in Australia—elements separate and distinct from the rest of the community."

"This we do not want. We desire in Australia only those races and bloods which properly mix and blend and turn out in the course of time about the same kind of citizen we have to-day. We are not looking for a new race in color, feature or language, but rather for better men and women from the original stock, perhaps with some new blood added."

"But Australia intends that her lands shall not pass into the hands of aliens of a type such as are found by the million in various parts of Asia, our own India included, and it is with a very complete understanding that Australians have known of the alien laws enacted recently in some of the states of the American Union."

Tacoma, July 29.—Two violent earthquake shocks, occurring thirty seconds apart, jarred Mount Rainier and the Pierce county towns Ashford, La Grande, Elbe, Orting and Eatonville at 8.15 o'clock this morning. The shocks were felt as far south as Lewis, in Lewis county, the disturbance covering an area of approximately 500 square miles.

Ethan Allen, superintendent of the Rainier National Park, telephoned from the National Park Inn that five distinct shocks were felt at the inn and extended to the bid bottom country. Mrs. B. Curry, telephone operator at Ashford, was thrown forward violently in her chair and saved herself from falling by grasping her desk. The shocks shook the gate houses on the rim of the concrete basin of Tacoma's new $2,400,000 Misqually power plant, but a preliminary examination discloses no damage.

Didier Masson Drops Explosive on Mexican Boat After Third Attempt

Nogales, Ariz., July 29.—The federal gunboat Tampico was destroyed by a bomb dropped from an aeroplane over Guaymas harbor, declared an official insurgent message. It was said that Aviator Didier Masson made three flights over the harbor before he succeeded in hitting the boat.

While it was reported during the Italian-Turkish war that a war vessel was sunk by a bomb dropped from an aeroplane, the report was never confirmed. There is said to be no other report of a similar feat on record, although many bombs have been dropped in military camps during the Balkan war.

Masson has made various attempts to damage the forts and ships of the Mexican army and navy at Guaymas, but has met with indifferent success.

BURNS MANUSCRIPTS SOLD TO AMERICAN

Storm of Protest Raised in England by Act of Liverpool Athenaeum

Liverpool, July 29.—The committee of the Liverpool Athenaeum has sold the Glenriddell manuscripts of Robert Burns after a resolution was passed by a majority vote at a proprietor's meeting authorizing the sale. The purchaser is said to be an American millionaire, but Sothby, Wilkinson and Hodge, through whom the sale was effected by private treaty, refuse to disclose their client's name. Neither has the price transpired. The minimum is fixed at $25,000. In 1902 an offer of $25,000 from the late J. Pierpont Morgan was refused.

The Glenriddell manuscripts are well known to all students of Burns. They are contained in two volumes and consist of poems and letters, most of which are in Burns' handwriting and the remainder in the handwriting of amanuensis, with occasional corrections and remarks by Burns. They were presented to Robert Riddell in Glenriddell in token of Burns' gratitude for the hospitality shown to him, and eventually passed to Dr. Curry, of Liverpool, by whose family they were bequeathed to the Athenaeum.

There is a widespread outcry among Burns' lovers against the sale of the Glenriddell manuscripts. Lord Rosebery, in a communication to local newspapers, considers the transaction "incredible, deplorable."

Dr. William Wallace, one of the greatest living authorities on Burns, expresses regret that the manuscripts should leave the country. He thinks British local bodies should retain such treasures at all costs.

Niel Munroe, the Scottish author, calls the transaction "most philistine and discreditable, and congratulates America on its bargain. Liverpool is to be consoled with," he says, "on the misfortune of having such a senseless, soulless loss of trustees."

Much indignation is felt in Scotland. The volumes were presented to Liverpool unconditionally by Mrs. Wallace Currie, because of Dr. Currie's interest in the Liverpool Athenaeum. The general opinion in Scotland is that there was no moral right to sell. Liverpool Burns' enthusiasts say that Glasgow should stop the sale if possible. The Scottish community in Liverpool is in revolt against the sale.

Rev. J. G. Hamilton, minister of the Scottish church in Liverpool, said today: "What interest can an American millionaire, of all people in the world, have in Robert Burns? He probably cannot even read him. If the report is true, the documents have gone to America it makes our loss all the more deplorable. America, it would seem, intends to swallow up all our greatest artistic treasures, one by one."

E. R. Diblin, curator of the Walker art gallery, in deprecating the action of the Athenaeum committee, expresses fear that the writings of Wm. Rosebery, which were likewise entrusted to the Athenaeum's keeping, may also find their way to America. He thinks that the Athenaeum, although it possesses the legal right, has no moral right to dispose of the manuscripts.

In the absence of the president of the Athenaeum, Sir James Barr, and its vice-president, Dr. Hill Abraham, no authoritative explanation of the sale is forthcoming. The Athenaeum is not and never was in debt. On the contrary, an adequate reserve fund has been accumulating for some years. The transfer of the volumes was effected with such privacy that many of the proprietors of the Athenaeum, it is stated, were not aware of the fact until the announcement appeared in a local newspaper.

GUNS FIRED IN NIGHT IN CITY OF SHANGHAI

Government Warships Shell Rebels Who Make Another Attack on Arsenal

Shanghai, July 29.—After two nights of quiet, firing was resumed here at 9 o'clock last night. Shells burst over the bandstand in the foreign settlement, and a Portuguese boy received fatal injuries and other foreigners had narrow escapes. It is suspected that the rebels are deliberately training their guns on the foreign settlement in revenge for the Shanghai volunteers having disarmed three hundred soldiers and twelve officers at Chapei on Saturday.

All the boundaries of the settlement are being patrolled by foreign detachments.

Rebels to the number of 2,000 started a fierce attack on the arsenal and maintained a brisk fire. The government warships shelled the rebel positions, but many of the shells fell into the foreign settlement. The firing on both sides continued for three hours. The Northerners are holding their ground.

Wu Sung has not yet been bombarded, although the foreign consuls were warned that the battleships would open fire against the forts.

Pekin, July 29.—General Young Sing, commander of the Southern forces, had called for the separation of the North and South in the abandonment of the "PunYuan" expedition northward. Several columns of Southern forces, aggregating 8,000 men, have arrived at Nanking and later proceeded for Yang Chow, Province of Kiang Su, to the supposed intention of threatening an attack on Tien Su and his 3,000 men, with a view of inducing them to join the Southerners.

The Northerners are converging on Nanking, while up the river, after capturing the Hukow forts, they are dispersing the rebels.

Rear-Admiral R. F. Nicholson, commander of the United States Asiatic fleet, who was proceeding up the Yangtze River on the cruiser Saratoga, telegraphs the legation here that the situation at Ku Ling has been relieved by the departure of the rebels. The American consul at Hankow, in a telegram to the legation here, says that a British boat and a Standard Oil Company's boat have been fired upon near Yochow, on the Yangtze River in the Province of Hunan. This would indicate that the troops in that province are rebellious.

It is notable that although the Maritime Province of Che Kiang is surrounded by rebel provinces, it still remains loyal to the government.

The diplomatic corps have refused the Chinese Government's request for permission to search foreign ships and foreign residences and to court martial foreigners caught within the Chinese military lines. There is much flustering going on, and there are persistent rumors that Japanese officers are aiding the rebels.

Vice-President Li Yung Heng, in an interview, is quoted as having said that Japanese concessionaires paid $5,000,000 for mining and other rights in the province of Hunan, and that with this money the rebels financed the present uprising.

There were no new developments reported as to the military alignments. A Northern fleet of transports and cruisers from the Che Foo is expected off the Yangtze River. Their object is to attack the Wu Chung forts which are reported to be well provided with cannon and ammunition. It should be an interesting battle, but no one would be surprised if the combatants negotiated a surrender.

Reports received from along the line of the Tien Tsin-Pukow Railway indicate that there is still a substantial force of rebels in that region and that they have destroyed the bridges. This will make General Chang Hauh's passage southward with his Northern forces difficult.

SMALLPOX IS RAGING IN SYDNEY, AUSTRALIA

Medical Fraternity Apprehensive; Danger to Life is Largely Increased.

Sydney, N. S. W., July 29.—Renewed activity in the smallpox epidemic with increased virulence was indicated yesterday when twenty-eight fresh cases were reported. The medical fraternity are apprehensive over this latest development, which means that the danger of loss of life has been largely increased. It is considered that if the scourge continues in the same degree of severity, death will take a hand.

There has been an outbreak of smallpox at Newcastle, the coal city, and it has been found that the disease came from New Zealand. Throughout New South Wales the railway traffic has been disorganized and the passenger service to and from Sydney is not paying for rail wear.

The sailings of many coastal steamers plying from Sydney have been cancelled, and the Levuka has been withdrawn from the Pacific island trade.

Meanwhile vaccination continues to be brisk and the medical men performing the operation are working overtime.

PARIS CAB STRIKE OF SHORT DURATION

New Regulations Caused Ten Thousand Drivers to Stop but for Only One Day

Paris, July 29.—The Paris cab strike lasted only one day, over 10,000 chauffeurs and cabsmen refusing to work as a protest against the new street regulations.

M. Hennton, the new prefect, has, since his appointment, taken a very decided stand upon the necessity of putting in force such regulations as would remove the seriously congested condition of the street traffic, which had become a veritable reproach to the city of Paris.

The rule to which the cabmen took the greatest objection was that requiring all disengaged cabs and taxicabs to go direct to the nearest rank, these being stationed at many fixed points in the city.

The strikers at the end of the first day held a mass meeting when they advocated the continuation of the strike over the next day, believing that the inconvenience that would follow the next day, being the one Sunday in the year when the greatest number of visitors and foreigners are in Paris, would cause the prefect to retire from the position he had taken up.

When, however, the men learned that the prefect was willing to fall in with any reasonable proposition coming from the council of the Cab Drivers' Union, but that he refused point-blank to go back on his own decision as to the ranks, regarding it as an absolute necessity in the interests of the public, the men wavered somewhat in their determination to resist further.

When, however, they subsequently learned that the prefect was prepared to resign his position rather than give up that which he considered essential for the safety of the public the men resolved to resume work the next morning. For the one day the Paris streets presented a deserted appearance, for only some 250 cabs were out.

The prefect is also taking steps to regulate much more strictly the motor omnibus traffic, which latterly has grown to be somewhat reckless in some directions.

SUN YAT SEN SAYS WORLD MISINFORMED

Will Fight for Life Work and for People's Rights Against Yuan Shi Kai.

New York, July 29.—Dr. Sun Yat Sen, the first provisional president of China, who led the revolution against Manchu rule, cabled the following to the Associated Press yesterday:

"Shanghai, July 28.—When three months ago Yuan Shi Kai unconstitutionally changed the loan with the bankers representing the five powers, almost immediately after the discovery of documents implicating the Chinese national leader Sun Chiao Yen, I appealed to the governments and peoples of Europe to withhold payment of the loan temporarily, knowing that the Chinese people would denounce Yuan Shi Kai for the loan and for the murder, and that Yuan Shi Kai would suppress their protest by force of arms.

"My appeal fell on deaf ears and Yuan Shi Kai, supplied with funds by the loan, poured troops into the Hunan provinces to dislodge the government and subjugate the people because they would not approve of his high-handed actions and insisted on a thorough investigation of the murder of General Yen. The province of Ki Kiang rose and joined with Kio Si to drive Yuan Shi Kai away from office. The present war will terminate as soon as Yuan Shi Kai, retires from the presidency, which he has disavowed.

"I cannot bear to see my life work destroyed and the despotism of the Manchus replaced by that of Yuan Shi Kai.

"I will fight for the people's righteous cause which, notwithstanding great odds, must ultimately triumph. The powers misinformed of the situation in China have assisted Yuan Shi Kai with funds which caused the present war.

"I honestly appeal to all desiring peace and an early cessation of war and a long conflict entailing much misery, to cease giving further financial assistance to Yuan Shi Kai. I make this appeal in the name of humanity and justice."

GRADUATES APPEAL TO KING FOR PARDON

Mrs. Humphrey Ward and Mrs. Flora Annie Steel Debate on Women's Suffrage

London, July 29.—The London Graduates Union for Women's Suffrage announces that an appeal signed by six graduates of the London University has been addressed to the King praying him for a free pardon for Mrs. Pankhurst.

The grounds of the petition are that the jury, while finding Mrs. Pankhurst guilty of a breach of the law, at the same time recommended her to mercy. The disinterestedness of her motives and her high personal character were fully admitted by them.

During the King's drive to the agricultural show in Bristol and whilst the procession was slowly climbing one of the remarkably steep hills of the city, a woman ran forward from amongst the spectators and succeeded in throwing a document, which is supposed to have been a petition, into the King's carriage. The procession was not stopped, and the woman who was arrested, is supposed to be connected with the suffrage movement.

Mrs. Humphrey Ward who is opposed to the idea of woman obtaining the parliamentary vote, met Mrs. Flora Annie Steel in friendly debate on the subject at the Criterion restaurant recently.

Mrs. Humphrey Ward said that the English suffrage movement rested upon an assumption of the value of the parliamentary vote as an instrument in social reform, that was wholly mistaken and exaggerated. The greatest things in the world were the alteration in moral and spiritual ideals, and these were things that were never voted upon. Woman's suffrage in England offered a maximum of political danger for a minimum of practical advantage.

Mrs. Steel in replying said that suffragists knew that men were doing their best to ameliorate wrongs. The advancement of past years was due rather to human progress than to the activities of men. Suffragists do not blame men for the mistakes they are making. These are inevitable when man unaided attempts to legislate for women. Two points of view are needed for the right perception of any and every problem of social life. Party government she declared to be a failure because men had chosen themselves as the opposition, when the true opposition of any nation was its women. Votes for women will not bring about the millennium, but it will bring about the salvation of men.

DREW LOTS TO SHOOT FOREMAN OF SECTION

Man Now Dangerously Wounded Assassin Takes Own Life After Shooting.

Moose Jaw, Sask., July 29.—Jovan Miovitch, aged 35, is dead, and Michael Burnice is lying dangerously wounded as the result of a shooting affray which occurred at Handel, on the Outlook ranch on Thursday last week, and the official report was only received in the city yesterday.

Burnice had just brought a gang to work on the section around Handel. He was not popular with the men for some reason or another, so they drew lots to see who should kill him.

Miovitch drew the fatal ballot, and with an automatic revolver he approached Burnice, and when at close range fired three shots. Burnice dropped to the ground with a bullet in the small of his back and another in his left arm below the elbow. Miovitch then committed suicide.

Constable of the R. N. W. M. P. who investigated, found that the majority of the section hands carried revolvers or knives, and several prosecutions are expected.

MOST BRUTAL WAR IN HISTORY SAYS YOUNG

Former United States Senator Reaches London From Serbian Headquarters at Nish.

London, July 29.—Former United States Senator Lafayette Young, of Iowa, arrived here last night from the Serbian army headquarters at Nish, which he left Thursday last. Mr. Young said that from the number of wounded men he saw the war in the Balkans must be the most brutal ever fought.

"The most serious situation for the Balkans," said Mr. Young, "is the utter absence of anything for the people to live on when winter comes. Wheat and oats are rotting in the fields, and corn is being strangled by weeds. The army is taking all the hay for the thousands of oxen engaged in transport service."

Mr. Young said that cholera was prevalent among the soldiers everywhere in the war zone.

BELGIUM FOREIGN TRADE IS RISING

Ghent, Belgium, July 29.—According to the latest Belgian official statistics the value of imports into Belgium during 1912 was 4,838,000,000 francs as compared with 4,598,473,000 francs in 1911, that is, the year 1912 shows an increase of 7 per cent, as compared with that of 1911.

As to exports the value for 1912 is 3,951,479,000 francs as compared with that of 3,580,000,000 francs in 1911, thus showing an increase of 10.3 per cent. Thus the value of the total foreign commerce for 1912 is seen to be 8,800,000,000 francs, which is rather a creditable showing for a small country of 7,000,000 inhabitants.

UNKNOWN TRAMP SAVES THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC

Ashland, Ore., July 29.—An unknown tramp saved the Southern Pacific coast Limited, southbound, from probable disaster yesterday by flagging it just before it reached a burning bridge near Oakland, Ore. The train was late and was running at high speed when the engineer saw a fire on the track some distance ahead. Alongside the track stood a man, waving a firebrand.

The train stopped and the man by the track told the trainmen that a bridge some distance ahead was on fire. Proceeding slowly, the train approached the bridge, which was at the end of a long curve. It was badly damaged by the fire.

Had the train struck the bridge at the usual rate of speed the structure might have collapsed.

The train proceeded on its way after some hours' delay.

TO SUCCEED MACKENZIE.

Ottawa, July 29.—The Ottawa Evening Free Press contains a report to the effect that Colonel W. G. Gwatkin had been appointed chief-of-staff in succession to Major-General C. J. Mackenzie. General Mackenzie is generally understood to have retired from the position some months ago. Military orders state he is on leave of absence for four months, his term of office expiring in the fall.

PROF. MARVIN APPOINTED.

Washington, D. C., July 29.—Professor Charles F. Marvin has been selected for chief of the weather bureau to succeed Willis L. Moore, recently removed. Professor Marvin is now chief of the instrument division. He was appointed to the old signal service in 1884 from Ohio.

LIMA REPORT UNTRUE.

Lima, July 29.—There is no truth in the reports current in Europe and America of a catastrophe in this city. There has been no extraordinary occurrence of any kind. The rumors probably arose from the fact that telegraphic communication between here and Santiago, Chile, is interrupted.

A Home Recipe for REMOVING WRINKLES

(From Woman's National Journal.) Who will blame the modern woman for trying to look as young and attractive as she reasonably can? Why should she be placed at a disadvantage in numerous ways by wearing wrinkles, if she can avoid these hateful marks of advancing age?

Few women, however, know what to do to effectually rid themselves of wrinkles or sagging. None of the advertised preparations is satisfactory and most of them are very expensive. But a very simple and harmless home remedy, which any woman can make, will work wonders where all the patent preparations fail.

Buy an ounce of powdered salicylate at any drug store. Dissolve the whole ounce in a half pint of witch hazel and use it as a wash lotion. The results are practically instantaneous. Marked improvement is noticed immediately after the very first trial. Wrinkles and sagging are corrected and the face feels so refreshed and smug-like.

MERELY BLUFFING.

Taking it by and large, the morning paper is the most unctuous humberg of this generation. It assails us for drawing attention to the Asiatic question with the same fervor with which it used to proclaim itself the champion of a white British Columbia. Does our contemporary forget those cartoons with which it plastered its front page depicting boatloads of Asiatics arriving at this port, and how it vehemently declared the immigration building was to be a boarding house for Japanese? Does it remember how industriously it led every morning in the interest of the most dishonorable campaign in the history of Canadian politics? Has it forgotten that masterpiece with which it capped the campaign and besmirched the fair fame of Canadian journalism?

The province was assured by Sir Richard McBride and the Solid Seven—now no longer solid on this question—that just as soon as the Grits were removed from office Asiatics would be totally excluded from Canada. The people believed them, overlooking for the nonce that at the time the critics themselves were employers of Oriental labor. Now that these one-time advocates of a white British Columbia are asked to make good, they sidestep and shuffle and try to bluff themselves free from criticism. At this very moment a corporation with which the provincial government is so thick that a gullotine could not pry them apart, is mining coal with Chinese in open violation of the laws the administration is sworn to enforce. There are more Chinese coming into British Columbia than at any time in its history. What are those high priests of a white British Columbia going to do about it?

THE GREAT CAUSE CELEBRE.

The name of M. Labori, the distinguished French jurist, who will visit Victoria shortly, calls to mind that most dramatic cause celebre which during its progress riveted upon France the attention of the world. In 1894 Captain Alfred Dreyfus, of the French army, was arrested on the charge of selling military secrets to Germany and after a secret court-martial was transported to the Ile du Diabol in French Guiana. A strong suspicion at the time existed in the minds of disinterested parties that Dreyfus was an innocent victim of a conspiracy which had taken advantage of the anti-semitic sentiment then prevailing in the republic, to fasten the crime upon him because he was a Jew.

One of the officers of the general staff, Colonel Picquart, upon examining the record of the trial, was convinced that grave irregularities surrounded the conviction, which seriously implicated the minister of war. Picquart was sent on a dangerous punitive expedition to Tunis, but took the precaution to confide his knowledge to his legal adviser. Then came the celebrated "J'Accuse" letter of Emile Zola, the novelist, with its terrific indictment of the war department. Zola was convicted of libel and fled from the country. But the friends of justice had been roused, and in 1898 an investigation discovered that one of the documents which had been used to establish the guilt of Dreyfus was a forgery. Colonel Henry, who was suspected, admitted that he had forged it and then committed suicide.

The anti-semitic prejudice against Dreyfus, however, was still strong, and even in the face of Henry's confession the war office continued to believe the unfortunate officer guilty. Finally, however, the cabinet transmitted to the court of cassation an application for the revision of the case, and that tribunal, after an elaborate inquiry which fully justified Zola's famous letter, ordered another court-martial to be held at Rennes. Throughout these proceedings the military party fought tooth and nail to impede the course of justice, and although the Innocence of Dreyfus had been fully established, it concentrated its efforts upon securing a fresh condemnation of the prisoner at Rennes. Maitre Labori was one of counsel for the defence, and conducted his case with exceptional brilliancy and skill. On the eve of his cross-examination of witnesses for the prosecution he was shot by a fanatical anti-Dreyfusard, but fortunately soon recovered. To the amazement of the world the Rennes court-martial declared Dreyfus innocent, but added the verdict of treason the remarkable rider "that there were extenuation circumstances," and that the sentence be ten years' imprisonment, attached to which was a recommendation to mercy.

The president was induced to pardon the officer, but Dreyfus wanted a complete vindication, and in 1905 a fresh trial was ordered. This resulted in the approval of the whole terrible accusation and the complete quashing of the verdict of the Rennes court-martial. Dreyfus was restored to his former rank and some effort was made at atonement by the authorities for the cruel wrong that had been done him by the war office. The real culprit were Colonel Henry and Count Esterhazy, who made a trade of supplying the German government with military documents and who, as soon as these were discovered, availed themselves of the anti-Jewish agitation to throw suspicion on Dreyfus.

Service in the Australian navy is not and will not be compulsory. The sailors who will man the ships will not be compelled to do so. Compulsion is unnecessary, because recruits are offering themselves for enlistment in large numbers. The authorities therefore expect no difficulty in this respect. The reserve, on the other hand, will be composed of time-expired men of the service and of naval trainees, who each year are expected to undergo twenty-five days' drill. A writer in a recent issue of the National Review says: "In the coastal areas the boys are electing for the naval arm of the service with great enthusiasm. Already there are 3225 cadets training for the Citizen Naval Forces Reserve." There is every difference in the world between a reserve required to train for only twenty-five days in the year and recruits who are enrolled in the training ships. The former is composed of young men engaged in various occupations ashore; the latter of those who enter the navy as their sole calling, and with them enlistment is voluntary.

The Montreal Gazette says the financial depression in Canada is but temporary, and that the conditions at present obtaining are not due to anything that has occurred in the business of this country. Advice received in Victoria from the prairies indicates that with a short season of favorable weather the yield of wheat and other staple crops will be far the heaviest in the history of the country. So that we may look forward with confidence to a general business revival. Discussing the prospects, the Gazette says: "The causes, as all who take note of what happens in the wider area understand, are practically world wide, and will only be reduced or removed in time. It is fair to claim, however, that to these causes Canada has contributed in but a minor degree. They may be expected to operate here chiefly because the money markets of all countries suffer or gain in common. They should not cause anyone to lose confidence in any well-based, well-managed Canadian enterprise."

"Is this the way our republic was built, or is it the way it is to fall?" The New York Sun is disquieted in mind by recent developments in the United States, and asks the above question. There is no doubt at all that there is unrest of an ominous character in the industrial centres of the United States. This condition has been brought about by certain developments which have shown the manner in which legislation is manipulated in the interests of the classes and against the interests of the masses in the community. The natural consequence is that the "soapbox orator" has been supplied with splendid material for his nightly harangue. But the demagogue is not the only one who is denouncing sins against the community. The Sun is moved to its jeremiad by comments of influential daily newspapers, one of which says: "Occasionally there are financial scandals in England, but Whitaker Wrights are thrown into prison there, whereas they go into palaces here and become, instead of convicts, gentlemen of note, fawned upon and flattered and kowtowed to because of their wealth."

Curious, isn't it, that our contemporary wailed until the Minister of Marine had left before it declared itself to be in favor of a fleet unit on the Pacific? But why did it not say something along that line when Mr. Hazen was here? The fact that the press of Victoria was unanimous on this point might have had an excellent effect. We hope the morning paper will administer a rebuke to its sister in the faith, the Edmonton Journal, which in an editorial to which our contemporary gave prominence to-day openly advocates a system of permanent contributions to the admiralty. This is what the Journal says: "New Zealand wishes to have a definite partnership with the British Admiralty in naval affairs. It recognizes that this must make for mutual efficiency. It has gone ahead with its contribution and is willing to wait for the effort that is to be made to so adjust constitutional arrangements that the system of centralized control can be made permanent. The example is one that we cannot follow too soon."

We have received a number of letters complaining of the quality of water supplied residents in certain sections of the city. No doubt there are substantial reasons for the complaints. Elk Lake water at its best in summer was never very palatable, and now that it has been left to stagnate in the pipes and other places for a season by resort to the more pleasant waters from Goldstream, we can imagine what its condition must be. But as rushing into publicity is not likely to improve matters, and we have an assurance that the present conditions will not be permitted to endure a moment longer than is necessary for the protection of the general interests of the community, there appears to be nothing for the complainants to do but exercise the under the circumstances, extremely irksome virtue of patience.

The morning paper now says it favors a fleet unit on the Pacific. What is its attitude towards a Canadian navy? Let us have the answer straight from the shoulder. The Minister of Marine is away.

CANADIAN AND AMERICAN

(From Bradstreet's.)

The foreign trade of the United States aggregated $4,500,000,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1913. While this is an encouraging record compared with Canada's, it seems we have no cause to have a start of the line. Canada's trade for the last fiscal year, 1913, totalled over $1,000,000,000. That is, United States foreign trade is to Canada's as 4 1/2 is to 1. Since her population is, however, 30 Canada's as 11 is to 1, we (Canadians) have a start of them per capita of about $3 to $1. Our trade per head is about $11, whereas that of the United States is only $4.35. The progress of the foreign trade of the United States, however, has, like Canada's, been a steady upward sweep.

A HIGHLY-DEVELOPED EGG.

(From the National Food Magazine.)

"Water!" The voice of the elderly man rose in accents of wrath from his table by the window. "Yes, sir," replied the waiter, bustling forward. The customer swallowed several sips quickly before he could command his voice. "Here, take—take this egg away!" he roared with an effort. "Yes, sir," said the waiter obligingly, as he approached the offending article. "And what shall I do with it, sir?" The elderly man rose menacingly in his chair. "Do with it!" he bellowed. "Do with it! Wring its neck!"

WHY TAX REFORMERS INCREASE.

(Ottawa Citizen.)

When one realizes the immense total of value, socially created and the meager amount that has found its way by taxation into the public purse, one can form an adequate conception of the motive impelling tax reformers to accomplish necessary reforms. To tax individual enterprise and to practically fine by taxation those whose energy adds value to the city, instead of taking such share of this social increase as would supply the necessary public revenues, is surely absurd.

CRICKET TOURNEY SET AUGUST 25-30

F. W. Reeves Announces Date of Annual Combat for Premier Honors

The Cricket Tournament will be played this year from August 25 to August 30 and by the correspondence received by the secretary of the Pacific Coast Association, F. W. Reeves, there is every indication of this being the finest tournament ever held in the cricket history of this province.

A large number of entries is already assured, the following clubs having shown their willingness to take part in the annual tourney: Burrard, Vancouver, New Westminster, Cowichan, Nanaimo, Saanich, Victoria, Albion, Oak Bay, Garrison and University leagues. If no more entries are received, this number will guarantee an interesting week's cricket of the best type.

For one reason or another the game has languished somewhat in the province during this present season, and it is confidently hoped that the coming tournament, when the best of the cricketers of the various cities of the province will be pitted each against the other, will serve to excite public interest in what still ranks as one of the greatest of summer pastimes.

There will also be a first class week of cricket during the coming carnival, when a series of inter-club matches of importance will be played on the various grounds throughout the city and suburbs.

No man has done more for cricket in British Columbia during the last year or so than F. W. Reeves, the popular secretary of the Pacific Coast Cricket Association and of the Victoria Cricket Club. Responsible for bringing the Australians to this city and so providing the crowds that witnessed the matches with the finest cricket fare that has ever been provided in Victoria, Mr. Reeves worked with unflagging energy to make the visit the success it proved to be.

Another strong contender will be Hamilton, which will send two eights, as well as Ottawa. Several American rowing clubs are also going to send men. It is stated that a Detroit club intends to send a representative here. Entries from Buffalo also are promised.

CANADIAN HENLEY

St. Catharines, Ont., July 28.—Final arrangements for the Canadian Henley, which will be held here on August 1 and 2, are being made. The entry list this year is the largest in the history of the big rowing feature. Prominent among the entrants are the Toronto Dons and the Argonauts. Winnipeg will also send a large delegation. Another strong contender will be Hamilton, which will send two eights, as well as Ottawa. Several American rowing clubs are also going to send men. It is stated that a Detroit club intends to send a representative here. Entries from Buffalo also are promised.

PLAYERS TESTED IN FIRST DAY'S GAME

Evans Came to Form After Opening Set; Tennis Results Yesterday

Evans, holder of the mainland singles title and the player who with Juke captured the doubles title of British Columbia last year, had a bad scare yesterday in playing in the first round of the Victoria tournament.

Playing against Betz, the Vancouver man went down to defeat in the first set by 7 games to 5. His opponent's form was surprisingly fine, but his pace had evidently made headway on his stamina, and he weakened perceptibly in the next set, which fell to Evans, 6-2. In the deciding set the mainland champion, whose play had been improving all the time, ran out winner with the loss of only two more games.

Tyler of Spokane, who is expected to reach the final of the men's singles, had an easy task in defeating Archibald, to whom he conceded only one game in two sets. He was not extended enough during this contest to allow any judgment to be formed of his play in comparison with his form of last year.

There was only one game played off in the men's doubles, Dickson and Marshall proving easily the stronger against Matheson and F. Booth, winning out by two straight sets, 6-3, 6-0.

In the mixed doubles there were some interesting matches. E. McCallum and Mrs. Colbourne played two hard sets against Mr. and Miss Eberts, winning by 6-2, 6-2. It took three to decide the match between Fulton and Mrs. Schwengers, and Wheatley won from Mrs. Mills, 6-1, 6-0.

Miss Lawson showed all her old form in winning easily from Mrs. Garrett, while Miss Idiens and Miss McDermott also reached the second round, winning from Miss McLeod and Miss Pearce respectively.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS

Men's Singles. Peterson won from Kottenbach, 6-0, 6-2; McCallum won from Maxwell, 11-9, 6-2; Dodwell won from Gallier, 6-1, 6-0; Dodwell won from McCallum, 6-0, 6-0; Keifer won from Phelan, 6-1, 6-1; Frost won from Matthews, 7-5, 6-3; Osier won from Fort, 6-1, 6-2; Rowers won from Martin, 6-2, 6-1; Follock won from Creswell, 7-5, 6-4; H. G. Garrett won from Pierce, 6-4, 4-6, 6-2; Capt. Foulkes won from Tollemache, 7-0, 6-2; R. W. Fulton won from Bagshawe, 6-0, 6-0; Cardinal won from T. Leeming, 6-2, 6-1; Evans won from Betz, 6-2, 6-2; T. C. Fulton won from Pender, 6-1, 6-0; Joe Tyler won from Archibald, 6-0, 6-1; H. G. Baker won from Forrest, 6-2.

Men's Doubles

Dickson and Marshall won from Matheson and F. Booth, 6-3, 6-0.

Mixed Doubles

E. McCallum and Mrs. Colbourne won from Eberts and Miss Eberts, 6-3, 6-2; Fulton and Mrs. Schwengers won from Wheatley and Mrs. Mills, 6-1, 5-7, 7-5; Harrison and Mrs. Cane won from Rowcroft and Mrs. Gray, 6-1, 6-1.

Ladies' Singles

Miss Lawson won from Mrs. Garrett, 6-0, 6-2; Miss Idiens won from Miss McDermott, 6-0, 6-3; Miss McDermott won from Miss Pearce, 6-3, 6-3.

Men's Doubles

Dickson and Marshall won from Matheson and F. Booth, 6-3, 6-0.

Mixed Doubles

E. McCallum and Mrs. Colbourne won from Eberts and Miss Eberts, 6-3, 6-2; Fulton and Mrs. Schwengers won from Wheatley and Mrs. Mills, 6-1, 5-7, 7-5; Harrison and Mrs. Cane won from Rowcroft and Mrs. Gray, 6-1, 6-1.

Ladies' Singles

Miss Lawson won from Mrs. Garrett, 6-0, 6-2; Miss Idiens won from Miss McDermott, 6-0, 6-3; Miss McDermott won from Miss Pearce, 6-3, 6-3.

GIANTS CHECKED PIRATES' MAD RUSH

New York, July 29.—The approach of August finds interest in the major league baseball races down almost to the vanishing point, so far as the premier berths are concerned.

DELAY RACES

New York, July 28.—The Motor Boat Club of America has cabled the Royal Yacht Club of England, the present holder of the Harmsworth cup, that owing to troubles encountered during the trial races, America is unready at this time to send a team of challengers for the cup.

MEETS DEFEAT

Washington's remarkable southpaw, won his first eleven starts in major league ball. Clarke Griffiths, manager of the Klippers, secured Boehling as an outfielder and pinch hitter.

PAPPA FOR PIRATES

Spokane, July 28.—Julius Pappa, a hard-hitting right-fielder on the local team, has been sold to the Pittsburgh Nationals for $3,000, according to an announcement here today.

NOW WARMS BENCH

White Sox, who cost Comiskey just $18,500, according to the prices sent out to the press, Chappelle was hitting over .350 in the American Association as a member of the Milwaukee club and is a grand base runner in addition. Chappelle has been benched for the last few days, but appears to be a wonderful fly-chaser.

ONLY TWO BINGLES OFF CHARLIE SCHMUTZ

BOOSTS SCHMUTZ

Upon the recommendation of Amos Rusie, the Giants' star pitcher from 1890 to 1898, the Brooklyn club has purchased the release of Pitcher Schmutz from the Vancouver club of the Northwestern League.

REMARKED ON THE SIDE

Victoria May Yet Have a Lacrosse Club. It is not very often that a sporting mogul can pick up some of the finest lacrosse talent in the world merely for the asking, but that is just what a prominent Victorian is doing in securing the pick of the present Vancouver twelve to play in Victoria uniforms for the balance of the season.

IMPORTANT BASEBALL DEALS ABOUT DUE

Yesterday's announcement from Portland to the effect that the Coast League has decided to oust the Northwestern from the City of Roses means that a big change must be made in the Northwestern League next year.

BOYLEY IS READY TO REGAIN HIS TITLE

Frederic Vaise will find himself opposed to a far different type of boxer when he again faces Joe Bayley next Saturday afternoon at Brighthouse Station. The former champion realizes that this will be his last chance for the championship and he has spent the past month in the hardest kind of training under the eagle eye of Geo. Paris.

VICTORIA MAY SECURE ENTIRE TEAM GATHERED BY CON JONES

Lester Patrick Takes Charge of Local Interests for Carnival Match; Lacrosse Gossip

There is yet a chance that Victoria will be represented in the Coast Lacrosse League this summer. Arrangements are now under way to transfer, practically intact, the entire Vancouver lacrosse club which Con Jones paid thousands to gather together in Victoria. Newsy Lalonde stated on Saturday at Vancouver that he is willing to come over to Victoria and manage a team here and a Victoria sportsman has volunteered to handle a team provided the players continue on a percentage basis, as they are now doing in the series with the Vancouver Athletic Club. A meeting of the Westminister, Vancouver and Victoria delegates will be held Wednesday or Thursday to complete the details and the inter-city matches will be resumed at once.

Carnival Match.

A professional lacrosse match is billed for August 6, during the Carnival week. According to present arrangements this fixture will be filled by the Vancouver team and the V. A. C. However, should a Victoria team be secured, this match will be played between a Victoria team and a Vancouver twelve. There are several games to be played at the Westminister exhibition, while a professional contest could also be played at the Willows during exhibition week.

SALE OF CLUB IS MATTER OF DAYS

Several Parties After Local Franchise; Bees Lost Yesterday to Beavers

Changes will be made in the ownership of the Victoria Baseball Club in the next fortnight; possibly sooner, but I am not prepared to state just at the present what the changes will be, was the reply of T. P. McConnell, secretary of the Victoria Baseball Club, with regard to the proposed sale of the local franchise. "There are several parties who are dickering for the control of the stock, and an Eastern National League Club would like to establish a 'farm' in Victoria. They have asked us to give them an option on the club, but we have refused, and will sell to the first man who puts up the money."

To Strengthen Bees.

Nothing further has been heard of the ejection of the Northwestern League Club from Portland, which is to take place at the end of this season, the Northwestern League president, Fiedler Jones, refusing to discuss the matter. The probabilities are, however, that when it is necessary for the league to replace Portland, the league will place a team in Everett, transferring the Beavers franchise and players to that city. Two new right-handed twirlers will join the Victoria Club before they return to the capital, and the Bees should stack up pretty well against the Tillikums during the carnival week engagements, which start on Thursday, August 7. Charlie Brooks is with the team, and can get into the game any day.

Loss to Beavers.

Vancouver won yesterday's game by five runs and hit off Narverson in the fifth inning resulting in five runs and enough to win the game. The final score being 6 to 1. Schmutz was on the mound for Vancouver, and held the Bees to two hits, which were bunched in the seventh, and this resulted in Victoria's only tally. Boatman went to the rescue for Victoria in the sixth, and held the Beavers to one run for the remainder of the game. Boatman allowed but one hit during the two innings he pitched.

Only three Bee runners reached first base during the entire nine innings. Schmutz had them swinging their heads off at his sharp breaking splitter. After Meek had doubled in the seventh inning followed with a single scoring him. At the start it looked as though the game was going to be a pitchers battle between the two slavers, but Walsh started the fireworks, and the Beavers were not retired until five runners had crossed the plate.

CROSS FAVORITE.

Los Angeles, July 29.—With visions of an encounter with Willie Ritchie for the lightweight championship of the world as a reward, Leach Cross and Matty Baldwin, the eastern boxers, rested today preparatory to their 20-round bout at Vernon to-night. The betting was at ten to eight on Cross.

BOXING FESTIVAL FOR THE CARNIVAL

V. A. C. Will Provide Fistic Entertainment for Next Week; Splendid Card Promised

Boxing has been cut off the carnival programme entirely, and the only boxing entertainment during next week's festivities will be the Victoria Athletic Club smoker, which is billed to take place at the Broad street club rooms on August 6. The carnival committee decided yesterday afternoon that they would not put on any athletic night at the Arena, so that professional boxing has been abandoned for the week. The V. A. C. card, however, includes the best amateurs on the Pacific coast and a number of the competitors will be sailors from the warships now in port. It is expected that the affair will prove one of the big events of the week. The bouts will be handled by the V. A. C. management, and will be apart from the regular carnival programme.

Wright Defends Title.

Owing to the illness of Gunner Ross, the club has been unable to secure the hard hitting Garrison to go on in a return bout against Sailor Wright, but Billy Fagan, another crack local heavy weight, has been matched against Wright. The latter holds the heavy weight title of the coast by reason of his defeat of Ross, and says that he is willing to meet any amateur on the coast for the title. Fagan made a good impression in his last appearance at the V. A. C., and will undoubtedly give Wright a stiff argument. Bobby Evans, the boxing instructor of the club, is to box in one of the preliminaries at the Bayly-Vaise contest next Saturday, but he has lined up a splendid card for the coming smoker.

ESQUIMALT ENGINEER

Duties Begin Immediately; is Familiar With Work in Municipality

W. A. Casey, of C. H. Topp's staff of engineers, was last night appointed municipal engineer of Esquimalt at a fixed salary. Mr. Casey to be in the employ of the municipality exclusively. When a consulting engineer is required Mr. Topp will be referred to. Mr. Casey's election arose partially from the fact that it was he who, for Mr. Topp, prepared the contour map for the sewer system of Esquimalt and drew up the provisional plans on which the by-law was based. Thus was settled one of the most perplexing problems which has faced the council of the adjoining township since its incorporation.

Casey is an exceedingly popular young man about town, and has achieved considerable success locally as a cricketer. His duties will begin in a day or two.

W. A. CASEY

Very little else of importance was done by the Esquimalt council last night. In response to a letter from the secretary of the school board asking whether the $25,000 raised by the recent bond sale was available for the expenses of building the enlargement of Lamson street school, the finance committee was instructed to inform the board that the bonds had been sold, but had not been drawn on yet, hence that $25 per month in interest was being saved. The council suggested that if the government would permit its share of the cost to be drawn on, the $25,000 be untouched for the present in order to continue saving this interest.

Thus was settled one of the most perplexing problems which has faced the council of the adjoining township since its incorporation.

Mr. Casey is known as one of the cleverest young engineers on the coast. He is but 24 years of age, and has been in charge of some of the biggest schemes in Canada. He was, almost from the beginning, in charge of the construction of the famous Buda tunnel at Fort William, and was in charge of various survey and construction parties at Prince Rupert for the Grand Trunk. His work there attracted so much attention that the Dominion government depot at Casey Bay was named after him.

W. A. Casey was born in St. Thomas, Ont., his father being the late George E. Casey, M. P. Mr. Casey was educated at Toronto and was an Upper Canada college boy. He joined the Grand Trunk Pacific in 1903, and owing to a series of mishaps to his seniors the Buda tunnel construction gang was left temporarily in charge for a week. The work progressed just as well as before, and he was instructed to finish the job.

He was sent to Prince Rupert in May, 1906, in charge of the hydrographic, topographic and traverse surveys and various construction works. He was resident engineer there for the Grand Trunk and the provincial government on the first sewer system installed at Prince Rupert prior to the sale of any lots, and afterwards, left the railway to install the municipal system in partnership with J. N. Pillsbury, prior to the appointment of a city engineer. Mr. Casey was the only eastern engineer sent to Prince Rupert by the railway. Since then he has laid out the roads and sewers in the Portland Canal district, and has had extensive experience in similar work since leaving the Grand Trunk in 1910. He has been with Mr. Topp for the past

JUNIOR LEAGUE CONTEST TO-NIGHT

Cubs and Wards will meet in a junior league game this evening at the Ward Park at 6:30. This is expected to be an interesting game as both teams are evenly matched, as has been evidenced in the games these teams have played in. If successful the Wards in winning this game will have practically secured the junior championship of the city, while on the other hand, if the Cubs win this, and their remaining games, they will be a tie with the league leaders.

OFFER ATTRACTIVE BILL

Participants in Acts at Empress Theatre Combine to Produce Variety and Brightness.

A good bill of fare was presented at the Empress theatre last evening, the chief attraction being a playette entitled "Early Morning Reflections," presented by Sager, Midgely and company. In this sketch, wonderful "making up" causes the two principals to look so much alike that they play on opposite sides of a mirror frame with startling effect, every action of one being duplicated by the other, in reverse, so that it really appears that there is a reflection instead of a substantiality.

One of the most fascinating turns is made up of the quaint humor and songs of "The Happy Tramp," who in real life is R. Kelly Forrest. His songs and topical hits are exceedingly good, though one or two of his jokes recent bond sale was available for the expenses of building the enlargement of Lamson street school, the finance committee was instructed to inform the board that the bonds had been sold, but had not been drawn on yet, hence that $25 per month in interest was being saved. Oil Burners Success

Equamit and Nanaimo Railway Will Benefit by Change; Being Tested Now.

After several months' experience with oil burners on the Equamit and Nanaimo Railway, the superintendent said this morning that it would be some time before the full effect of the change from the standpoint of economy could be appreciated, on account of the fact that the heavy expense of installation of tanks and adaptation of locomotives had to be met. However, it was forest fire prevention which had necessitated the change and in this respect they had proved a success. The company had escaped fires this summer, and had economized in the patrol; formerly necessary along the right-of-way. As time went on, however, he was satisfied that the figures would demonstrate the use of the oil burner as the right thing.

Improvements at Nanaimo, and other depots will be carried out in pursuance of the policy of rebuilding the stations and yards as necessity arises.

MUST FACE A JURY TO ANSWER CHARGE

W. J. Johnson Committed for Trial on Accusation of Attempting to Kill Neighbor

William J. Johnson was tried in Saanich police court yesterday afternoon by Magistrate Jay on two charges. The more serious was taken first, that of having attempted to murder David Alderdash on July 22. On this he elected to be tried by a jury and was committed for trial after the crown had put in its evidence. On the charge of stabbing his wife he was sent to jail for one month.

R. C. Lowe defended the accused on both charges, while the case for the crown was handled by Alkman and Austin, solicitors for the municipality of Saanich.

David Alderdash testified that on July 22 he had seen Johnson passing his house and had called a good day greeting across to him. Johnson had made a rush at him instead of returning the salutation, and had made a swing at him with an axe he was carrying. He had gone towards Johnson and had managed to get a hold on the handle of the axe before it could fall. He had then broken away and had run to a neighbor's house, where he had told what had taken place. Later Johnson had threatened him with a loaded gun. Alderdash admitted that he had himself taken a revolver between the two attacks, but it was not loaded and he had carried it merely as a means of frightening Johnson away.

Constable Owens arrested Johnson, and stated that when he took charge of the man he found a quantity of morphine in different forms and hypodermic syringes in his clothing. The man was known in the district to be addicted to the drug habit.

Corroborative evidence was given as to Alderdash's condition when he arrived at the neighbor's house.

The case for the defence was reserved and the accused was committed for trial.

The other case was then gone into, being that of stabbing his wife, Agnes Johnson, by striking her with a knife on the shoulder.

Mrs. Johnson stated that on July 22 her husband, who had been acting in a very peculiar way for some time, struck her with a knife in his hand and inflicted a cut which she had to have dressed by a doctor. To Mr. Lowe she admitted that she had lived with her husband for a fortnight after this assault and before his arrest, but she explained this by saying that she was afraid that if she did not do so he would kill her.

R. Hewett, bricklayer, who lives close to Johnson, spoke of seeing Johnson strike his wife but he did not know at the time he had a knife in his hand, although he afterwards found that the woman had been wounded.

Johnson went into the box in his own behalf and claimed that the blow was struck during a quarrel with his wife, and that he had not noticed at the time that he had a knife in his hand. He assured the court that the cut was entirely an accident and not the result of any intention on his part. In cross-examination he admitted that he was a morphine user and that he took large quantities of the drug.

The magistrate considered that the story of the accused was not to be believed as to his not knowing that he was striking at his wife with a knife, and sent him to jail for one month.

When this term is expired the question of bail on the other charge will be for a judge in one of the higher courts to decide. Pending the preliminary hearing bail was refused.

TO ENTERTAIN CALIFORNIANS. Further Meeting of New Organization is Held to Advance Carnival Project.

A special meeting was held at the Strathcona hotel yesterday under the auspices of the Canadian-California Club. During the progress of the luncheon the club discussed ways and means of entertaining Californians during carnival week. The committee on entertainment is trying to engage space to entertain as well as rooms for permanent quarters. The next meeting will be held Wednesday at 8 p. m. in the office of the Balmoral hotel, where the members would be pleased to meet any old residents of California. Ira E. Quinby, 505 Sayward block, is secretary, to whom application should be made. Those in attendance at the luncheon were Messrs. Oates, E. B. Little, C. Mergertroyd, Cummings, J. E. Warren, G. L. TO REPORT ON PUMPING. Underwriters Allege That Plant is Shut Down—Misunderstanding Has Arisen.

In connection with the effort of the city council to secure a reduction of the rates on fire insurance in the city, the secretary of the Vancouver Island Fire Underwriters' Association drew the attention of the council last evening to the allegation that on a recent occasion in passing the North Dairy pumping station, it was found to be out of commission, and the pumps not in operation, due to the closing down of the Elk Lake waterworks.

Mr. Rust, who intimated that the whole question would be dealt with in a written report, stated that the statement of the secretary was not correct, in that while the North Station was closed, the engineer had left steam on, and the plant would be immediately available in case of emergency.

Alderman McNeill desired to know why both waterworks had to be maintained, and was assured that the subject would be fully reported upon.

WOMEN EXPLORERS

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I have been interested in the announcement in the New York papers about Miss Mary Jobe's intended trip to Northern British Columbia and Alaska; but I feel it an injustice to our northern pioneer women to let pass, uncorrected, the statement that Miss Jobe will be "the first white woman to visit the land of the Eskimo and these inaccessible wilds of Northern British Columbia." My mother was a pioneer of Northern British Columbia, my father being the Hudson's Bay Company's officer of a trading post, and I was born and brought up in those "inaccessible wilds." We knew women, the wives of trappers and prospectors, who went with their husbands much farther north than we had gone, even to the moss marshes and snows beyond the mighty Peace river.

My mother's sister, wife of the captain of a whaling fleet, holds the female record for penetrating the Far North, although she has never published the fact. She spent three years in the Arctic Circle, taking her little girl with her. The natives and seen few white men and no white women. She traveled as far north as several of the male explorers who have missed the pole. They were walled into the circle one year by the ice at the mouth of the straits. The third year their ship was swallowed up under the ice, but all on board escaped and, after months of terrible hardship, reached open water and were taken aboard by another whaler.

Somewhere in that white waste of Eskimo Land is the beautiful daughter of a titled English family. She gave up "the world" and her fine talent in music to follow her husband, a young churchman, who felt himself called to the missionary work there. There are other women, some delicate, who have followed their men in exploring, fur trading, missionizing, and gold mining all through the country which Miss Jobe will traverse. They have lived there and borne their children there, hundreds of miles from any other "whites," their only neighbors, if they had any, being the simple, kindly natives. Miss Jobe will find her path secure and her welcome warm wherever she meets a human being, which would not be the case if she were "penetrating" New York City for the first time.

There is much to do, to enjoy, to

NEW YORK'S SLASHED SKIRTS.
The above photograph was taken on Fifth avenue, New York's most fashionable thoroughfare. The subject is shown in a costume that surpasses the most daring importations from Paris. The district traversed by this progressive young woman and her more timid girl friend, shown a trifle to the rear, became so congested with pop-eyed men that it was necessary for the young women to take refuge in a closed taxicab.

learn, and to win in the wonderful Far North; but it has not been left for the young femininity of this generation to be "the first" in any part of it. The Intrepid Woman has already written her history there.
CONSTANCE SKINNER.
New York, July 21, 1913.
TO ADD CHUTES.
New Thriller at Gorge Will Take Participants Out on the Water.
To be added to the many attractions of the Gorge Park within a couple of weeks is a "shoot the chutes," invariably the centre of the greatest interest at any amusement park in the world. The ground has been cleared and a pile-driver is at work now directly opposite the dance hall laying the foundation for a 300 foot water chute. The highest point of the structure will be about 100 feet above ground, while the long slide down the greasy 300 foot path will end with a huge splash in the open water just above the Gorge. A long hooked pier is being constructed out in front of the end of the chute to catch the cars, or boats, as they come down. Each boat will carry four passengers and a man with a boat hook to bring it ashore after the run. The boats will be carried up the incline on a chain as at the "dip the dips" and will be turned around on a turn-table at the top. A difficulty which had to be overcome in the construction was the varying levels of the water, owing to the tide, but a floating dock arrangement was adjusted to suit the conditions.
The Open-Air Cafe is the correct thing for the hot weather "at the Kaiserhof."

A Story of Evolution

By E. BASSETT JONES

Looking far down the misty corridors of past time, we find traces in the sedimentary lamina of the stony frame-work of our world strange forms and beings, flora and fauna, that represented the earliest and simplest forms of life. Animal life on the earth at this remote age had no special organs of sense of motion, excepting minute hairs or hair-like processes; or of nutrition beyond, at best, a mouth and stomach. Life, starting from these primitive forms, was continually changing and becoming more complex as it progressed through the several epochs down to the present time, culminating in man, the perfected animal. Life, far as we know, was continuous, from the earliest dawn of life to the present time. From the earliest Rhizopods, and through all the ages of life, variety and kaleidoscopic changes of form and growth were in evidence, strange, and at times weird forms of life appeared, to merge into still other forms that finally culminated in man as we know him at the present time.

Who will be bold enough to say that the work is finished? In future epochs there may be a more highly gifted and specialized being evolved, of which we have no conception. As we look back through the mists of primal epochs, in the sedimentary bottoms of uncharted seas, we find imprinted there lithographic records of the numerous and strangely varied beings that once lived, loved, and died, there in the case of these ancient ocean beds. This reminds one of Langdon Smith's poem, "Mindless we lived, mindless we loved, and mindless at last we died." Here on the ooze and slime, hardened by the passing of untold ages, we can trace the meanderings of the last journeyings printed upon the stony leaves of Nature's book, by the strange forms of beings that have passed away. Some years ago I spent several days examining the outcrop of the Cambrian formation near Campbellford, Ontario, on the ledge of the sedimentary limestone forming the walls of the gorge of the Trent river. I found numerous traces of Trilobites, representing the crustaceans, also the tracks of sea worms. I was fortunate enough to find a large Trilobite, at the end of his last journey. "Alas, that death." Here, thought I, I can mentally step backward over vast periods of time, and shake hands with one who represents one of the earliest inhabitants of our planet; a pioneer; one of the elite of society in those days; one whose antecedents were few, and whose progeny reach down through vast periods of time to the present. I proceeded to examine him from his Paleozoic tomb, and in doing so I unfortunately broke his Trilobite shell in halves through the parts containing the digestive organs. Although I was sorry to have broken the specimen, on the other hand I was pleased to have a chance to satisfy a natural curiosity as to the nature of a lunch which could be procured in that far-distant time. On examination I am able to state the nature of this lunch which had been partaken of by me of the representatives of Nature's nobility of the Paleozoic times. It is a most wonderful lunch which changes have taken place in the last few million years, as to the constituents thought necessary to furnish a "Dejeuner de Luxe," but such is the law of the passing time, continual changes off and on to eternity. If it were not for this unceasing change where would be our boasted civilization to-day?

But what of this pre-Adamite meal? Well, it consisted of the juncos jelly of Protozoans, Annulids, and other Paleozoic tidbits "A la Naturel." It would be of no use to procure these appetizing morsels at this late date, even Deimonico took a few million years too late to make good in this respect. After carefully packing my specimen, I wandered down the river examining the rock ledges by the way, making myself familiar with the various representatives of early life. Here and there I saw vestiges of a near relation to the Cephalopods, or devil-fish of the present time. Presently one of these pleasantly named genus was discovered, nearly perfect. The scientific name of this particular representative of the devil is Orthoceras, meaning a straight horn; the remains consist of a tapered cylindrical shell which is divided transversely into cells or slight compartments, connected together by a siphon or syphon. The living animal occupies an elongation of the end compartment, at the largest end of the cylinder is connected the syphon, and has full control of the peculiar mechanism that is used for the double purpose of propulsion and for changing the specific gravity of the animal, by induction or exclusion of water to the shell is divided, so as to enable it to float or sink as will. The direction of progression was backwards, and produced by intermittent jets of water ejected from the syphon. The nearest representative of this strange being at the present time is the pearly Nautilus of the subtropical seas, the chambered shell of which is curled into a helix; it has the same arrangement of syphon and chambered shell, with arms similar to the Octopus, and in fine weather may be seen floating like a fairy ship, but when disturbed fills its chambers with water and sinks from view. The dimensions of the remains of some of the largest specimens of orthoceras is thirty feet long, three feet at the large end and two feet at the smaller end, and the weight of such a fossil would be about ten tons, and of the smallest varieties a few ounces. This animal in its largest size, with disk covered tentacles probably fifty feet in length, together with the horn, beak, and the baneful stare of its stony eyes, must have been a terrible monster to the unsuspecting creature with which it unexpectedly encountered. Like a hideous vision of some brain diseased, or conception of a demon damned. This terrible nightmare fell upon the smaller animals that swarmed in these ancient seas, beings that became entangled in its suckered arms were slowly drawn into the living tomb, the cruel hook reality; death and silence reigns where once was life. I have then the rare privilege of examining and viewing (some at least) of the scenes that were in the passing epochs of the new-born world.

When our thoughts wander backward through vast periods of time to the first drawings of life in some Cambrian form, we find that life in its simplest form, or elementary condition, a nucleated cell, possessing certain properties—motion, nutrition, growth and reproduction; we find that man, together with all the living beings, both animals and plants, is entirely formed of aggregates of nucleated cells. Then from the dawn of elemental life to the present time we find that life has been continuous and progressive, continually developing a more complicated structure, both totally and partially, commencing from a single cell, and then advancing to simple combinations of two or more cells, each being more or less a variant of the parent cell, thus producing a complex organism, but simple as compared with aggregates of variant cells found in the higher animal and plant life, including man. Then man is as thoroughly limited to the far distant past as he is to the future. He is only one branch of a genealogical tree that includes all known forms of life. A veritable tree of life that germinated from a simple cell endowed with that elusive and all-potent something we call life. As we retrace our steps through the several great divisions of geologic time we find that life becomes more complex as we ascend: First—Archean or Azole time, when the world was young and devoid of life. Second—Silurian, the age of invertebrate life, being devoid of vertebrates. Third—Devonian, age of fishes, of higher species within the range of our conceptions. Fourth—Carboniferous, the reptilian age. Fifth—Jurassic age. Sixth—Quaternary, or age of man. In the appearance of man the progress through the ages apparently reached its completion, and the animal structure its highest perfection. In that range of our conceptions, it is the vertebrate type which began during the Paleozoic age in the prone or horizontal fish, became erect in man, thus apparently completing the possible changes to the last form, an erect body and an erect forehead, seemingly admit of no step beyond. To assume that all progression stops with man as we know him at the present would be contrary to the lessons of past ages. Apparently Nature's motto is "Excelsior," and in accordance with this grand motto which is the basis of all progression and development, we may expect to find that the cephalization of man is not yet completed, but he will continue to rise higher mentally and physically, and his progress must be upward and onward through all the future ages; till he becomes the perfect animal, and fit to sit upon the right hand of the great Designer of all.

TO-DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

This is the date on which, in the year 1834, Commander George Back—who was afterwards knighted and attained to the rank of an English admiral—arrived at the mouth of what was then known as the "Great Fish River," but which now, in his honor, is called the Back River. Twice he had been with Franklin in the Arctic regions, and on this occasion he was in charge of an expedition sent out with the double object of rescuing another party of explorers and of prosecuting geographical discovery in the northern portions of British America. Whilst wintering in Fort Reliance, at the eastern end of the Great Slave Lake, he received news of the safety of Ross and his party. This set Back free to devote himself to exploration, and in that summer he traced the course of the turbulent "Great Fish," which he described as running for five hundred and thirty geographical miles, "through an iron-ribbed country without a single tree on the whole line of its banks, expanding into fine large lakes with clear horizons, most embracing to the navigator, and broken into falls, cascades, and rapids, the number of no less than eighty-three in the whole, before it finally poured its waters into the Polar Sea.

Attempting the conquest of Canada was one of the principal diversions of the New Englanders of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, and, on this date in 1711, all Boston gathered at the waterfront to witness the final preparations for the sailing of an expedition which it was hoped and believed, would wrest the north-west country from the "papists." The fleet presented a brave array, and the English flag flaunted over fifteen ships-of-war and forty transports. Under the command of Sir Hovenden Walker were seven regiments of veterans from Marlborough's army and a battalion of marines, besides the colonial troops. The embarkation of troops was completed on July 29, 1711, and on the following morning the fleet proceeded out to sea. The middle of August and success seemed to dawn when, the 22nd of that month, a storm wrecked eight of the vessels. The remainder returned to Boston, having accomplished nothing.

Tracy's expedition against the Iroquois bore fruit on this date, July 29, in 1647, when the chiefs of the Mohawks appeared in Quebec to sue for peace. The other four nations of the league had already taken similar action. The Indians left some of their number as hostages, and begged that Jesuit priests, surgeons and blacksmiths should be sent to live among them. This was agreed to, and the peace won by force of arms and riveted by religion continued without serious rupture for twenty years. In the long and bloody history of Canadian Indian warfare, Tracy's expedition was the most productive of good results, and in the resultant period of peace many industries—including Canada's first brewery—were established.

Italian Anarchists Celebrate Festival of "Saint" Bresci.

"Death to kings!"
"Down with government!"
"To hell with capitalism!"

These are some of the toasts that will be offered to-night at the annual celebrations in many American and Italian cities on the anniversary of the assassination of King Humbert I, father of the present king of Italy.
Anarchism has its "saints" and "martyrs" and its festivals, and of the latter the two most generally observed are the anniversaries of the Haymarket riot and the slaying of King Humbert by "Saint" Bresci, "martyr."
It was thirteen years ago to-day, July 29, 1900, that the beloved Humbert was killed at Monza by the anarchist assassin Bresci. Several shots were fired at the ruler, all of them finding lodgment in his body. The king was driving when the attack was made, and died before reaching the palace. Bresci declared that he had left America to kill the king, but denied that he had any accomplices.
Three years ago the Italian anarchists plotted to "celebrate" the festival of "St." Bresci by assassinating Humbert's widow, Dowager Queen Margherita, but one of the anarchists confessed, afterward committing suicide, and the plot was foiled.
Of a very different nature will be the observance to-day at the chapel, explained above, of the late king's death. Memorial services are held each year on the anniversary of Humbert's death in the chapel, a triumph of the art of architecture.

Victor Emmanuel, who begins the fourteenth year of his reign to-day, has been attacked by anarchists on several occasions. He has been called "the most democratic sovereign in the world," and Socialist and radical leaders are often invited to the palace, but this has not saved him from the murderous attentions of the anarchists.
It was 121 years ago to-day that a band of some 500 revolutionists from Marseilles marched into Paris singing the Marseillaise. It was the first time that the "immortal hymn" had been heard in the French capital, but within a day all Paris was singing it. A few days later the reign of terror was ushered in, when Swiss guards, servants and officials of the Tuileries, to the number of eight hundred, were massacred while the bands played the Marseillaise.
The hymn has often assumed the role of an incitement to violence. It has been heard in many American cities during labor troubles, and rioting has almost invariably followed.
The feminine Baschkas of England smashed windows and destroyed property to the air of the Marseillaise. Discontent with the existing order has been expressed in the "martial" music composed by Rouget de Lisle. Socialists and anarchists, suffragettes, anarchists, nihilists, republicans in monarchies, single taxers, radicals of all shades, find inspiration in the Marwell-known. In France the hymn is popular with all classes, save the royalists and the Bonapartists, to whom it recalls unpleasant memories. For good and for ill, Rouget de Lisle was a genius; and his song has been the inspiration of great deeds as well as ignominious ones. "For ever in thine eyes, O Liberty! shine that high light, whereby the world is saved; and though thou slay us, we will trust in thee."

THE HUMAN PROCESSION

Dr. Max Simon Nordau, most trenchant of Jewish writers, and equally famed as physician, scientist, orator, critic and Zionist, was born in Budapest sixty-four years ago to-day. The author of "Degeneration," "Conventional Lies," and other powerful works, has lately given the world his opinions on the suffrage movement. He believes in the ballot for the fair sex, and found much to praise in the militants as long as they "carried on war." Later, opposing the "rules of war," he found manifestations, such as the destruction of private property and attacks on individuals, are bitterly condemned by the eminent Jew, although he insists that the object of the movement should not be "damned because of the means." He predicts that "the present century will most likely behold many a feminine cabinet minister, who will bear her ministerial portfolio with the same consummate elegance that she now carries her muff."

Booth Tarkington, whose latest novel, "The Flint," is the first in several years, was born in Indianapolis forty-four years ago to-day, and still resides in the Hoosier capital. He made his first great success as a fiction writer with "The Gentleman From Indiana," fourteen years ago. Mr. Tarkington's first wife divorced him in November, 1911, and a year later he married Mrs.

FIRST THINGS

The first newspaper printed west of the Allegheny mountains was the Pittsburg Gazette, which issued its initial number 127 years ago to-day, July 29, 1786. As the Gazette Times, this journal still occupies a prominent position in Smoky City journalism. The Gazette did not long remain the only newspaper in what was then the wild West, for in the following year the Kentucky Gazette was established at Lexington by John and Fielding Bradford. In 1793 the Sentinel of the Northwestern Territory—a "large mouthful for the 'newbies'" if such there were in those days—was founded in Cincinnati by William Maxwell, postmaster of that town. This was the first newspaper north of the Ohio and west of Pittsburgh. The Western Spy and Hamilton Gazette entered the Ohio field in 1798, and in 1804 the Liberty Hall and Cincinnati Mercury made its appearance. The Inquirer and Cincinnati Advertiser was another early Ohio journal. The Canton Repository, still in existence, was founded in 1814 by John Saxton, who continued at the helm until his death in 1871. During his remarkable journalistic career Saxton published accounts of the battle of Waterloo, the American Civil war, and the surrender of Sedra.

JAIL DEBENTURES ARE NOT IN STOCK ISSUE

Available Funds for Sooke Waterworks; Visit to Undertaking Postponed

In dealing with the jail question at the city council meeting last evening, the aldermen missed several important points, it is pointed out.

As a debenture issue it has been made available in New York and Toronto, and this is the reason why the sum of $2,000 has been sold thereunder.

Householders were hoping that by the placing on the market of the product of the Laurentia Milk Company, of Alberta, Limited, which has its headquarters at Olds, in that province, there would be a fall in the high price for that commodity.

As a result of analyses made by the city analyst of samples of the cream sold in the city grocery stores, but more particularly following analyses of samples purchased from the company's wholesale agent here, a prosecution has been launched against the latter on a charge of selling cream which contained less than 18 per cent of butter fat.

John B. Howes, assistant city sanitary officer and officer appointed by the city council to carry out the provisions of the Adulteration Act within the city, told the court that on the afternoon of July 21 he visited the premises, 512 Baiton street, and there selected and purchased from Mr. Panell three bottles of Homogenized Laurentia Cream from out of the cans of pasteurized milk and cream contained in bottles and cases of bottles. He divided the contents of each bottle into three parts, giving one sample of each sealed to Mr. Panell, and of the others one of each was given to the city analyst and the other retained to be forwarded to Ottawa if it should be necessary.

Thomas Lancaster, chief sanitary officer, corroborated the evidence of his assistant, Charles W. Birch, city analyst and officer appointed under a Dominion order-in-council to carry out the provisions of the Adulteration Act, gave the results of his analyses. Sample 581 contained 12.7 per cent of butter fat, sample 582 11.51 per cent, and sample 583 12.74 per cent.

Magistrate Jay asked what proportions of solids there were. Mr. Birch cited the sample 582 as having 7.83, but added that in the case of cream there was no standard for solids not fat. The only requirement was that the butter fat should not be less than 18 per cent. Cream was different from milk. There was a standard laid down in the case of milk for both fat and non-fat contents, but in cream the only thing the authorities were concerned with was that the fat should not fall below the amount fixed.

Mr. Birch: "Yes, adulteration, as I have said in the certificate. The fact that the percentage of milk fat is below standard constitutes adulteration as laid down in the act."

City Prosecutor Harrison: "Do you say that anything has been added or subtracted from that liquid?" Mr. Birch: "I would say in this case it has been imperfectly and partially separated."

Mr. Harrison: "But there has been no willful addition or subtraction?" Mr. Birch: "None."

It was intimated by the prosecutor that the grocers who are selling the product might legally be proceeded against, but this was not considered fair. It was intimated that they would escape any danger of this by marking the bottles as being below standard.

On Tuesday next legal argument will take place as to whether or not the cream comes within the scope of the act.

Consul Abraham E. Smith Looks for U. S. S. California Here Morning of July 31.

No further information has been received from Rear-Admiral Reynolds with regard to the visit of the U. S. S. California and U. S. S. West Virginia to this port, the latter as the flagship of the admiral. Consul Abraham E. Smith stated this morning that he expects the California in on Thursday morning, and that the commander will call upon him in pursuance of the usual procedure during that day and also make the round of official calls.

BOTTLED CREAM IS SUBJECT OF ACTION

Civic Authorities Claim That It is Below Standard in Butter Fat Under Adulteration Act

City Prosecutor Harrison: "Do you say that anything has been added or subtracted from that liquid?" Mr. Birch: "I would say in this case it has been imperfectly and partially separated."

Mr. Harrison: "But there has been no willful addition or subtraction?" Mr. Birch: "None."

It was intimated by the prosecutor that the grocers who are selling the product might legally be proceeded against, but this was not considered fair. It was intimated that they would escape any danger of this by marking the bottles as being below standard.

On Tuesday next legal argument will take place as to whether or not the cream comes within the scope of the act.

Consul Abraham E. Smith Looks for U. S. S. California Here Morning of July 31.

No further information has been received from Rear-Admiral Reynolds with regard to the visit of the U. S. S. California and U. S. S. West Virginia to this port, the latter as the flagship of the admiral. Consul Abraham E. Smith stated this morning that he expects the California in on Thursday morning, and that the commander will call upon him in pursuance of the usual procedure during that day and also make the round of official calls.

The "cruciers California and West Virginia are sister ships, each with the same measurements, being 502 feet long, 52 feet 6 inches beam and 24 feet 1 inch deep, with a displacement of 13,860 tons. The speed of the California is 22.29 knots, and that of the West Virginia 22.15 knots. The California, heretofore the flagship of the Pacific fleet, is cruising independently, while the West Virginia is a member of the Pacific Reserve fleet stationed at Bremerton, and to it the admiral will temporarily transfer his flag for the arrival here on Monday. By that time H. M. S. New Zealand will have returned.

INTERESTING TENNIS AT BIG TOURNAMENT

Conditions Excellent for Fast Play This Morning at Wilf- lows; the Scores

More aspirants to tennis honors had their hopes quashed this morning at the Victoria tournament, which was continued in ideal weather at 10.30. From that time on till 11 o'clock every court was occupied with contestants for the various titles, and the play waged fast and furious until the luncheon bell sounded from the club house.

In the men's singles there were few features of special interest, the contest being too one-sided to bring out any individual brilliancy; every match in this series was won in straight sets. Mercer beat Carr after some excellent play on both sides of the net, while Tatlow, after losing the first set to Cosgrove without striking a game, made a hard fight in the second, but lost out, 6-3, 6-2, 6-1.

The private services for the family was held at 2.50 in the chapel of the British Columbia Funeral Company, Rev. Leslie Clay was the presiding minister there, and afterwards at the St. Andrew's church, which was filled to overflowing. The service was devoid of ostentation, simply a hymn, prayers and the formal funeral service.

The procession from the church was most impressive. The string of cabs was blocks long, while Methodist lodges of the Royal Arcanum marched. The pallbearers were Dr. G. L. Milne, Hon. Dr. H. E. Young, Judge Lammpan, G. H. Barnard, M. P. E. Brammer, J. H. Seidler, S. D. Schultz, H. McAulay, John Wallace and A. G. Smith.

The flowers were so numerous that after the casket had been covered and the hearse carried all it could, the remainder had to be conveyed to Ross Bay cemetery in an extra carriage.

Several doubles matches were played off this morning. Mr. and Mrs. Garrett were opposed to Griffiths and Miss Jones, and in spite of some fine play by Miss Jones, carried off the decision in two straight sets. Mrs. and Miss Schmitz, who are a very likely pair for the ladies' doubles, were also seen in action. Mrs. Schmitz and Miss Jones, 6-4, 6-1, Garrett and Evans were seen in action in the men's doubles, and from their form it is pretty safe to argue they will travel a long way together in this particular competition. Evans' game at the net was superb, his killing and smashing drives, especially his forehand, were ably aided and abetted, and they beat McCallum and Rowcroft, 6-2, 6-4.

Miss Lawson started off well in the ladies' singles competition by defeating a formidable opponent in Mrs. Garrett with comparative ease. Both Mrs. Stewart and Miss Peele had eyes into round two.

Scores This Morning. Men's singles—Mercer beat Carr, 6-3, 6-4; Cosgrove beat Tatlow, 6-0, 6-3; Peters beat Kottenbach, 6-0, 6-2; Moore vs. Shannon; Dowdell beat McCallum, 6-0, 6-0; Green beat Roberts, 6-3, 6-1. Ladies' singles—Miss Lawson beat Mrs. Garrett, 6-0, 6-2.

Men's doubles—Garrett and Evans beat McCaskey and Rowcroft, 6-2, 6-4. Mixed doubles—Mr. and Mrs. Garrett beat Griffiths and Miss Jones, 6-1, 6-1. Ladies' doubles—Mrs. and Miss Schmitz beat Miss Dumbleton and Miss Ross, 6-4, 6-1.

Secretary of the citizens committee to be placed in every railway station along the Pacific coast giving information about the carnival.

The ladies of the Local Council of Women met yesterday and decided to have a refreshment booth in the ballroom of the Alexandra club during carnival week. The room will be open from 11 a. m. to 8 p. m. and will be attended by the ladies of First Presbyterian church, Ladies Aid, Queen Alexandra Club, O. T. M., St. Andrew's Church, Ladies Guild, First Baptist Church, Women's Christian Temperance Union, and the Metropolitan Church Ladies Guild. Mrs. Graves was appointed press agent and Miss Leitch manager.

Tickets for the music festival on Wednesday, August 6, went on sale today at the FIT-Rite store. There will be 2,500 reserved seats and almost an equal number of unreserved. John John Clarke, formerly a well known baritone of Southern Ontario, will be one of the singers at the Festival in the Arena. Mr. Monteth, who is now a resident of Portland, is very highly spoken of as an artist of great merit. The committee looks for the music festival to be one of the most successful features and one which will attract many visitors during the festival.

Mr. Clarke, although still representing South Essex in the federal parliament, has moved to Calgary where he has an extensive law practice in partnership with M. S. McCarthy. He is regarded as one of the ablest lawyers in the House of Commons, so Ontario's loss through his departure is the West's gain. He and Mrs. Clarke arrived here on the Princess Sophia after an enjoyable trip to Skagway.

HUNDREDS ATTENDED DR. WATT'S FUNERAL

Floral Decorations Were Very Numerous; Service at St. Andrew's Church

Seldom has the death of one of its citizens moved a greater portion of the city of Victoria to mourning than has the death of the late Dr. A. T. Watt, whose funeral was held this afternoon. St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, where the public ceremony was held was all but too small to hold the vast throng which wished to attend, and pay its last respects to the simple gentleman whose kindly disposition and unfailing courtesy in a public office had won the hearts of all who met him.

Still another evidence of the grief which was universally felt at the tragic end of the chief of the quarantine station was the wonderful quantity of flowers sent by the many individuals as well as public bodies with which he had been associated. Many of the wreaths bore the names of prominent business men, other the names of medical men; the staff at the quarantine station sent a beautiful tribute, the Royal Arcanum forwarded a wreath, the medical association, the Seaman's Institute, and many other public and semi-public organizations paid their silent tribute to the qualities of the departed.

The private services for the family was held at 2.50 in the chapel of the British Columbia Funeral Company, Rev. Leslie Clay was the presiding minister there, and afterwards at the St. Andrew's church, which was filled to overflowing. The service was devoid of ostentation, simply a hymn, prayers and the formal funeral service.

AVIATION FEATURE OF CARNIVAL WEEK

Hydroplane With Lady Aviator and Balloon With Parachute Dropper to Come

Three flights from land with a lady aviator and five from water with a man at the helm will be made by the hydroplane which J. M. Bryant will bring here during carnival week. In addition an anchored balloon will ascend several times a day carrying passengers. The anchor line will be over a thousand feet long and a parachute expert will drop from the balloon several times during the week.

The hydroplane will be in charge of J. M. Bryant and Miss McKee. Miss McKee will fly at 10.30 a. m. Tuesday from the polo grounds at the Willows and again from the same place in the afternoon. Mr. Bryant will fly from the harbor on Wednesday morning and afternoon, Thursday morning and afternoon and Friday morning. Friday afternoon Miss McKee will again guide the machine upwards from the polo grounds.

Leaflets have been posted by the secretary of the citizens committee to be placed in every railway station along the Pacific coast giving information about the carnival.

Water Rising.—The level of Smith's Hill reservoir is steadily rising. This morning the water stood at 11 feet 1 inch, which is a six-inch gain on the previous day.

Roof Fire.—A fire yesterday at the residence of William Ker, 529 Springfield avenue, owned by A. H. Boston, due to a spark falling on the roof, did damage to the extent of $200. The loss is covered by insurance.

Alarms This Month.—The activity of the fire department this month is shown by the fact that the men have attended over 40 fires in July to date. During the year there have been over 50 fires responded to more than in the corresponding period of 1912.

GO TO PENITENTIARY Ernest Atkinson and So Quon Removed to Enter Life Sentences To-day.

Sheriff Richards yesterday afternoon received formal notification in writing from the department of justice at Ottawa of the commutation of the death sentences passed at the last assizes on Ernest Atkinson and So Quon. This morning the men left Victoria for the last time in their lives, and this afternoon they entered the penitentiary for the province at New Westminster to spend the remaining span of life which each has before him.

The men were sent over in the care of Provincial Constable Robert Owens and one of the guards from the provincial jail. Atkinson has grown much stouter during his imprisonment here and has a heavy full beard, which alters his appearance considerably. He is also much brighter than he was at the time of his trial and while he was in the condemned cell. The Chinaman still wears the same dazed look that he had all through the nine months since his arrest.

While the men secured a commutation of their sentences as a result of the strong recommendations to mercy which the jurors considered it right to make, and which marked their belief that the men were to some extent insane at the time each committed the murder with which he was charged, they are not considered to be insane by the authorities and therefore their commutation to the penitentiary instead of to an asylum. Had the jurors thought the men permanently insane, they could not have found them guilty but must have returned a verdict to the effect that they were insane.

Atkinson, who was well known in the business section of the city as a night watchman, murdered his wife while they were at breakfast at their home on View street in the early hours of January 26 last. At the trial it was testified that for some months previously he had been acting in a strange manner, and family evidence was given of his ungovernable temper and sudden fits of rage. Dr. C. E. Doherty, superintendent of the hospital for mental diseases, stated that he considered the man insane.

So Quon murdered a fellow-countymen, Soo Mook Yung, in the yard of the Cameron Lumber Company on October 12 last, splitting his head open with an axe. He afterwards tried to drown himself in Selkirk Arm.

TO REOPEN ORGAN. Recital to Be Given at St. Andrew's Church This Evening—Instrument Improved.

The organ at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church will be formally reopened this evening after being thoroughly renovated and enlarged by Adolph Fosness. It will be heard for the first time in a recital after it is fully completed. Very great improvements have been made in it, which will materially assist in leading the services of the church.

Building Permit is Issued for Alteration of Old Church Building. Negotiations having been concluded, the building inspector was able to issue to S. E. Barrett this morning the building permit to alter the old First Presbyterian church for a public market. The work will cost about $4,000. The lease lasts for two years and the alterations must be carried out under the superintendence of the various city officials. It will be conveniently situated between the Victoria and Sidney and British Columbia Electric Railway depots for the convenience of farmers on the peninsula. It is 50 years in November since the church was dedicated, the foundation stone having been laid in April 1863 by Hon. D. Cameron, Chief Justice of the colony. Building permits have been issued to W. A. Sprinkling for a garage on Grant street, and to E. A. Barr for a residence on Walnut street. Unless the permits rise in the next three days, there is every prospect that the total for the month, which is a little less than $100,000, will be the lowest since January 1911.

It is expected that when the Prince John arrives on Thursday, she will bring down the crew of the fishing schooner Welling, which was wrecked near Frederick Island, off Cape St. James, recently. The crew escaped in dories to the Cape, where they were picked up by the lighthouse tender Leebro, which is discharging supplies for the new lighthouse there. From there the Leebro took them into Ikeda, where the Grand Trunk steamer Prince John called yesterday.

Market Bare of News but Mexican Situation is Being Closely Watched
Slight Betterment in Corona-tion Insufficient to Warrant Immediate Interest

(By F. W. Stevenson & Co.)
New York, July 25.—The market gave a rather good account of itself to-day though on advances a disposition was noted to secure part profits on long lines and professional element which has been bearishly inclined, sold rather freely. Marketwise, there was not much news of importance, but the Mexican situation is being closely watched. The market has enjoyed a substantial advance so that as a result of profit-taking sales, reaction of profit-taking sales, however, has changed much for the better and that investors are now willing to purchase the standard issues and also bonds.

WHEAT BORROWS AID FROM CORN FUTURES

(By F. W. Stevenson & Co.)
Chicago, July 25.—There was a show of heaviness in wheat at the outset to-day. There was nothing in the situation to suggest any special support, except as it came from developments in the corn trade to-day, an hour after the bottom prices were made. There was a show of strength in the Minneapolis market. By that time corn traders were under such a headway on the buying side that the bull reeling spread to wheat.

Toronto Lady Took "Fruit-a-tives" and Cured Herself

4 Home Place, Toronto, Dec. 15, 1909.
"I was a helpless cripple from Rheumatism for nearly a year. All down the right side, the pain was dreadful and I could not move for the agony. I was treated by two physicians without benefit. I saw 'Fruit-a-tives' advertised and decided to try them. After taking one box, I was much better. When I had taken three boxes, I could use my arm and the pain was almost gone. After taking five boxes I was entirely well again. The cure of my case by 'Fruit-a-tives' was indeed splendid because all the doctors failed to even relieve me. Fruit-a-tives cured me. MRS. LIZZIE BAXTER."

How You Can Be Strong

There's no rational excuse for you printing and complaining about pains in your back, stiffness in your shoulders and legs, that "tired feeling", weak back, nervousness, indigestion, constipation and failure of vitality. It should not be. Nature started you with a constitution that ought to have held you good until you are eighty, and you ought to feel like a boy now. But you have overdone some things and wasted your vitality. You still have the constitution, but lack the force. That's electricity, and Electro-Vigor will restore it.

I take pleasure in writing you, stating that the benefit I have received by using Electro-Vigor. About three years ago I was terribly afflicted with lame back, kidney trouble, and rheumatism, so bad I could hardly stoop over. In November last I began the use of Electro-Vigor and to-day I am as well as ever, being completely cured. I highly recommend Electro-Vigor to any sufferer from these troubles. Wishing you success.
(Signed) GEO. F. MUNDORF, Clinton, B. C.
No matter where you live, we can give you the name of some one near you who has been cured by Electro-Vigor. Pick out the men who have used Electro-Vigor and you will see men of force, men who respect themselves and are respected and admired by their fellow-men. Electro-Vigor is a device for infusing electricity into the body. It renews the energy and activity of every weak organ. It increases vitality and power and makes a man of you in every way. No chronic disease or weakness can exist where there is plenty of electricity. Electro-Vigor does not shock or blister. It generates a steady, unbroken current of electricity, and is always charged, ready for use. All you have to do is adjust it properly and turn on the power. From the first moment the glowing electric stream courses through the nerves and veins, carrying new life and force to every weakened part. The man does not live who cannot be made a better man by the application of Electro-Vigor. Those who have used it say that it is the grandest remedy of the age.
FREE TO YOU
Get our 100-page book describing Electro-Vigor, illustrated with photos of fully developed men and women, showing how it is applied. This book tells in plain language many things you want to know, and gives a lot of good, wholesome advice for men. We have a separate book for women.

Ald. Cuthbert Wants to Know Who Looks After Sooke Waterworks Undertaking

When the report of the water commissioner on some contracts for Sooke waterworks was being passed by the city council last evening, Alderman Cuthbert took occasion to refer to the frequent absence from the city of Mr. Meredith, consulting engineer, while the work is being done by the water commissioner. He described it as one of the "fool things" done in 1911, which was costing the city $1,000 a month till the completion of the Sooke contract. It was about of the Sooke contract, as the engineer, as commissioner was taking all the responsibility. How much was the city to pay before this Sooke proposition was through?
Alderman Dilworth asked the water commissioner if he was not true that the foremen on the work were mostly Americans.
Alderman Dilworth was assured that all the men employed were British subjects, and mostly residents of the city. Mr. Rust said he had given positive instructions for British residents to be chosen.
The mayor thought that the alderman was probably alluding to the engineering staff.
Mr. Rust reported having let the contract for the erection of temporary trestles for the railway which is to be used for the delivery of material along the right-of-way to John McCaskill and McCullin Bros. The former's price was $17 per 1,000 feet, complete, and excavation of earth 11 and rock $2 per yard; and the latter's price was $12 per 1,000 feet, complete, and excavation at 45c per yard for earth and $2 for rock.
The Goldstream station being close to Humpback, material will be taken in that site for the reservoir by a spur track on the Esquimalt & Nanaimo railway, for which an agreement will be drawn up with the company.

"GIRL FROM PANAMA"

Summer Season of Musical Offerings Opened by Frank Rich Company.
Before two audiences which filled practically every seat in the Victoria Theatre, the Frank Rich Company, opened its summer season last evening with the musical piece, "The Girl from Panama." What little plot there had been allowed the piece had to do with the return of a soldier and the superheated efforts of the father to have him marry a girl. A happy ending was provided by the son's disapproval of the girl who was one he had formerly fallen in love with at Panama. To the lot of the six principals fell particularly ungracious parts, the lines and situations offering little opportunity for the display of histrionic ability, the possession of which by the actors the audiences were only permitted to guess at. Of the chorus which assisted in the numerous songs which were interspersed, it may be said that the members wore a great variety of costumes and were at least willing in their efforts.
The audiences, of such generous proportions, had a right to expect entertainment of a brighter nature, especially as it had been designed for use during the warm weather.

SCHEME IS NOT DEAD.

Alderman Cuthbert Says Public Market Question Will Come Up Again.

When the formal agreement with S. E. Barrett for the alteration of the public market on Pandora avenue came up before the city council last evening for confirmation, Alderman Cuthbert said that so far as he was concerned, he had told Mr. Barrett that the special market committee would bring in a report in favor of a publicly-owned market later on and that Mr. Barrett must go into the question with his own eyes. The agreement was then adopted, in accordance with the terms of the special committee's report.

ANNEXATION OF MAYWOOD.

Committee is Named by City Council to Draft Proposal.

Having in view the desire of Ward E. Ratepayers' Association of Saanich for a representative of the city council to address the ratepayers in favor of annexation the city council was last evening invited to send a representative to a meeting on August 14, at St. Mark's hall.

The mayor's name was suggested, but his worship asked for a committee to draw up a stated opinion of the city's case in connection with annexation, and this committee was named, to consist of Aldermen Porter, McCandless and Meston.

giving $10,000 out of $30,000 for marketing the issue. He did not think Ald. Dilworth's motion would be wise, as a business scheme, for the aldermen to adopt.

Alderman Dilworth asked permission for ex-Alderman Okell, a police commissioner, to address the council.

Mr. Okell's View.

The council granted the application, and Mr. Okell observed that certain modifications could be made in the plans proposed in 1912 to bring it into the scope of $50,000, the amount of the loan. He thought the mayor's project was only a temporary expedient, and it was only a method of throwing money away, for a permanent jail must be provided sooner or later. The council should adopt a permanent policy, rather than stink money in the present unsatisfactory proposal.

No one could justify the present conditions, said Alderman McCandless, and he believed that alterations could be made, and that money would not be thrown away in this course. He favored a committee on the lines of Alderman McNeill's proposal.

As far as possible the wishes of the people should be carried out, said Alderman Meston, but he doubted if the people wanted a jail built immediately. He favored alterations, particularly to provide ventilation of the cells on the ground floor.

Alderman Porter supported the reference of the whole question to a committee, but believed alterations could be made to relieve the present objections. He opposed the commencement of the new jail till all the money was in sight to complete it.

Another Aspect.

Alderman McNeill pointed out that the council was paying a large sum for office rent for quarters which would not be required if the police were moved out of the present city hall.

Alderman Cuthbert said that the whole thing came down to the fact that the mayor refused to allow the jail to be built. The only will the mayor desired to obey was that of Mayor Morley. They proposed to waste money on altering the building, and to perpetuate the folly and crime against humanity which had existed for two years. The reason why the original estimate had been reduced to $30,000 was the cutting off of some of the frills wanted by the police officials. All this delay had come from the mayor's determination to prevent any permanent work being done till the civic centre scheme was carried out. The jail was a discredit to the city, and the council had no justification in resisting the will of the citizens, whose desire was for the people using the jail to be properly housed.

INVITES MAYOR TO HAVE HIM EJECTED

ALDERMAN CUTHBERT CRITICIZES; INCLUDES ALDERMAN GLEASON IN REMARKS

DESCRIBES THEM AS "MAYOR AND MAN FRIDAY"

Committee is Appointed to Look Into Whole Question of New Jail

During the long discussion of the jail question last evening at the city council meeting, Alderman Gleason told a story, which Alderman Dilworth subsequently described as "stale as a glass of stale beer." It was about the Irish recruit who was told by the sergeant that the mayor: "You will obey the rules of this council while I am in the chair."

Alderman Cuthbert interrupted, when the mayor said: "I will have you obey the chair, or else have you put out."

Alderman Cuthbert: "I invite you to begin; I am not going to be run by the mayor and his man Friday." The mayor: "You will obey the rules of this council while I am in the chair."

A committee was ultimately appointed to report on the question in two weeks' time.

The mayor met the motion to sell the debentures by the submission of a plan for temporary alterations.

Alderman Dilworth briefly urged the immediate necessity of the new jail.

A Versatile Mayor.

Alderman Cuthbert described the mayor as the most versatile of men. He could not find any money for anything else, yet was prepared to find $5,000 to thwart the will of the people. He had never sat on any public body where the mayor's ability to sidetrack a proposition was equalled.

Alderman Gleason: "You never will again."

Alderman McNeill examined the allegations that it would be unwise to sell the bonds now, and said if that was true, yet it was the obligation of the council to carry the will of the people through, as he expressed it.

Now the council was asked to alter its policy for a third time, and he believed before an official should be called upon to prepare the necessary plans the mayor should take the council into his confidence. He was told that $30,000 was insufficient to carry out the work proposed on the Fisguard street site. There was in addition the supervision charges, so under these circumstances he suggested a committee to make inquiry, and to present a report on the subject as to the sale of the debentures, and also the need of the work.

Difficulty of Proposal.

Alderman Gleason, chairman of the special committee of 1912 on this subject, said he had advocated at least $30,000 last year, but that Alderman Cuthbert had moved to reduce it to $20,000. After that course had been adopted he had washed his hands of further responsibility on the subject.

So far as marketing the bonds was concerned, he referred to the large issue of treasury notes, against which the council had to remember that many notes had to be taken up. If the issue of bonds was made in London, they could not expect to realize more than $70,000 to $72,000 net. Taking other allowances from the total, there would not be more than $65,000 actually available. In view of the defeat of the civic centre proposal in July, 1912, he believed that a new jail should be built, but it could not be done for the money stated.

Therefore he favored the policy of a temporary shift to tide over the situation, and asked whether it was worth

LEGISLATION NEEDED

Conduit System for Downtown Wires Again Discussed by Council.

The difficult problem of the transfer of the telephone wires downtown to a conduit system has been the subject of considerable correspondence. At the meeting of the city council on July 21 the solicitor for the British Columbia Telephone Company, F. A. McDiarmid, wrote appealing for provision of immediate easements for the necessary rights-of-way.

At last evening's meeting of the council Mr. Robertson, the city solicitor, replied to the letter of Mr. McDiarmid. He suggested that the city secure legislation giving the authority to pass a by-law expropriating the easements required, and providing for the registry of the by-law in the land titles' office as sufficient to vest the right to the easement in the city. The parties interested could then claim expropriation in the usual manner.

Mr. Robertson pointed out that the agreement called upon the company to endeavor first to secure the easements. How far the company had done this he did not know, but apparently the company assumed that the city would have all titles searched. As this would entail a great amount of time and expense, some other method should be devised. To secure the legislation suggested would do away with this waste of time and money, and in cases where owners demanded compensation, the usual course followed in the case of expropriations could be adopted by such owners.

The council adopted the suggestions, which will involve new legislation.

Alderman Cuthbert termed the arrangement one of the "fool" acts of the council of 1911, which had not learned "to look before they leaped."

Alderman Gleason stated that the agreement had the approval of the ratepayers, while the mayor said the proposal had had its inception long before the by-law of January, 1911.

"What is that man's occupation?" "Well," replied senator Sorghum, "it depends on your point of view whether he is conducting a campaign of education or just a plain lobbyist."
